

MUNICIPAL COURT JUDGE — O. Charles Hosterman, 38-year-old practicing attorney, was sworn-in as judge of the Circleville Municipal Court Friday morning by his brother, John. With them is Judge Hosterman's wife, Lucy. Judge Hosterman, who was appointed to the bench Jan. 29 by Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes, becomes only the second judge in the 22-year history of the local court. He will serve the remainder of the late Judge Sterling Lamb's six-year term which will expire in 1978. As his first official duty, he reappointed court officials, Francis McGinnis, bailiff; Carolyn Royster, clerk; and Jeri Robins, Carol Bowman, and Mary Jo Smith, deputy clerks. Judge Hosterman was appointed late last year as a substitute judge to serve a portion of Judge Lamb's unexpired term. Joseph Ralston of Lancaster was named substitute judge when Lamb died Jan. 13 and had been serving in that capacity until Hosterman's appointment.

Long Distance Telephone Rates To Undergo Change

WASHINGTON (AP) — If you make long distance telephone calls, the chances are your monthly telephone bill will be going up on Feb. 12.

The American Telephone and Telegraph Co., filing for rate adjustments Thursday, said the average residential telephone bill will increase by about 10 cents per month. The average business customer will pay about $2 a month more if the Federal Communications Commission approves the new rates as expected.

The new rates submitted to the FCC would increase the cost of long distance calls made over short distances, while reducing the cost of calls made over longer distances. Calls in which operator assistance is required would undergo the sharpest increase.

For instance, a three minute direct-dialed evening call from Chicago to San Francisco would drop from 84 cents to 80 cents, but a station-to-station call between the same cities requiring operator assistance would rise from $1.90 for three minutes to $2.15.

Winning Ohio Lottery Numbers

In the Buckeye 1,000, the sixdigit number was 609251; the five-digit number was 37598; the four-digit number was 0477 and the three-digit number was 682.

In the Spirit of '76 game, the six-digit number was 352833; the five-digit number was 06223 and the four-digit number was 2568. The liberty bell numbers were 71, 62, 70 and 38.

AT&T says the hikes will make long distance calls about as expensive as in 1953 when the company began lowering its long distance rates.

The FCC approved a similar rate pattern on an interim basis last March 9, increasing about two-thirds of the interstate long-distance rates and either decreasing or keeping the others the same.

The precise amount of increases faced by each customer would depend upon the number and type of interstate calls made, their distance and duration, the time of the day and the day of the week.

Under the proposal, the shorter the distance the more the increase.

For instance, a one-minute daytime customer-dialed call from New York to Los Angeles would drop from 56 to 54 cents. A one-minute daytime call from New York to St. Louis would stay at 50 cents and a call from New York to Detroit would rise from 49 cents to 50 cents.

The AT&T filings followed an FCC decision Jan. 19 raising the company's rate of return on its interstate service rate from 8.74 per cent to 9.5 per cent for a $225 million a year increase.

AT&T has won three rate increases since Jan. 26, 1971. Previously, there were nine reductions, starting in 1953.

Consumers also have been hit with a flurry of local telephone increases the past year. AT&T, which through its Bell System operates about 85 per cent of the nation's telephones, reported rate increases were approved in 38 states last year and new increases are pending in 25 states and the District of Columbia.

need to make metrics a part of already state-mandated math courses. Others skeptical of the legislation wondered aloud whether Ohio's teachers are themselves fully prepared to present the subject to pupils.

Rep. John P. Wargo, D-2 Lisbon, indicated he felt the legislation might be the work of special interest groups. "The only people who would benefit from this bill are the publishing houses that want to sell these materials," Wargo told the House.

The House agreed routinely to a motion to leave Brandenburg's bill in a position for possible reconsideration. An actual vote to reconsider requires approval by roll call vote, and must be taken within two legislative days—in this case by next Tuesday.

In other developments, before the Senate and House adjourned for the weekend, senators completed legislative action on a constitutional amendment to permit the election of Ohio's governor and lieutenant governor as a team.

Congress Plans Spending

WASHINGTON (AP) — Riding high on two straight spending victories, congressional Democrats are planning to push their antirecession program despite President Ford's demand for budgetary restraint.

The House voted 321 to 80 on Thursday to pass a $6.1-billion bill featuring grants for public works projects and funds to help state and local governments avoid employee layoffs and tax hikes. Sponsors claim the bill would create or preserve up to 800,000 jobs.

Hours before it was passed, Ford's press secretary, Ron Nessen, told reporters the President would veto the bill. A day earlier, Democrats won their first spending battle of the year, overriding Ford's veto of a $45-billion money bill for labor, health and welfare programs.

Ford made no direct comment on passage of the public works bill, but there was no indication he had changed his mind about vetoing it. The House vote margin was far above the two-thirds needed to override a veto. The Senate approved the bill by voice vote Dec. 17.

Talking to a delegation of the U.S. Conference of Mayors, a group that lobbied hard for the public works bill, Ford said he was "not going for some of these quick fixes that some of these people advocate."

Suggesting that his strategy would be to press for extension of general revenue-sharing instead of specific programs backed by Democrats, Ford later told a group from the Young Republican Leadership Conference there had been no forward movement in Congress on his 8-month-old request for the extension.

Revenue-sharing, inaugurated in the administration of former President Richard M. Nixon, gives state and local governments a share of federal revenues with virtually no strings. Some Democrats advocate putting requirements into the plan if it is extended.

"I think general revenuesharing is in very deep trouble," Ford said. "We have to launch a massive effort to get some action."

He told the Young Republicans their economic future looks bright "if we keep our cool and don't try some quick fix that won't work."

But jubilant Democrats hailed Thursday's House vote as evidence that their economypriming program is rolling. Only 13 Democrats voted against the bill, while Republicans divided 52 for and 67 against.

Democratic Whip John J. McFall of California said the House will act soon on a bill to increase from 310,000 to 600,000 the number of federally funded jobs for the unemployed in state and local governments. Ford has recommended phasing out the jobs program.

"Our actions will reduce the heavy drain on the Treasury from welfare payments and unemployment compensation, create hope and opportunity for the jobless and further advance national economic recovery," McFall said.

"The House of Representatives has sent a clear, positive message to the jobless of this nation," Speaker Carl Albert said. "The central issue was clear — whether we should put 600,000 Americans to work now ... or permit them to remain idle, contributing little and collecting unemployment compensation and welfare. The House acted affirmatively."

Earlier, Nessen told reporters the public works bill would add $2.5 billion to the federal deficit in the year beginning Oct. 1 and more than $1 billion in the following year.

The sums authorized by the bill are maximums. Actual amounts available would be determined by appropriations.

The authorizations include $2.5 billion for grants to state and local governments for public works projects to be started within 90 days, with priority for high-unemployment areas.

The special funding for state and local governments would be triggered by an average 6 per cent unemployment rate — well below the present 8 per cent plus level of the projections for the rest of this year. For each of the next five quarters, $125 million could be paid out, with increments of $62.5 million being made available for each half percentage point above 6 per cent unemployment. The funds would be earmarked for maintaining essential services.

The authorizations also include a $1.4-billion addition to an existing grant program for sewage treatment plants; $100 million for economic development programs in cities; $500 million for quick employment projects in areas of high joblessness; and $125 million more for a program for working capital loans and interest guarantees, with emphasis on small business.

President Wins Secrecy Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — Following victory in his fight with the House intelligence committee over disclosure of secrets, President Ford is visiting CIA headquarters for the swearing-in of George Bush as the agency's new director.

Bush, a former Texas congressman and U.S. envoy to Peking, was confirmed by the Senate earlier this week to succeed William E. Colby.

President also arranged to meet today at the headquarters with CIA staff members in a lobby adorned with 32 stars honoring the 32 CIA employees killed in the line of duty.

The House, by a vote of 246 to 124, ordered its intelligence committee Thursday to either deliver the panel's final report on U.S. intelligence activities to the House as a secret document or get Ford's approval to release it publicly.

Ford hailed the step, saying the vote "shows the House members recognize that the American people want a strong and effective foreign intelligence capability.... Today's House vote demonstrates that it also takes seriously its responsibility to protect national security secrets."

A different view came from Rep. Otis Pike, D-N.Y., chairman of the intelligence panel, who said the House order gives Ford and the CIA the power to censor the committee's report on the CIA and other intelligence agencies.

Pike said he'd rather issue no final report at all but said he did not know what the committee will decide.

"I do indeed see a cover-up in which I think the Congress is regrettably participating," Pike charged. "... I think they (Ford's advisers) have managed to block the report."

The House followed the recommendation of the committee's senior Republican, Rep. Robert McClory of Illinois, who said the question was whether the House could be trusted to keep its word.

McClory said that publication of secret information on covert operations without consulting Ford would violate a committee-Ford agreement giving Ford the final word on releasing secrets.

The secret information, mostly disclosed already through news leaks, includes details on U.S. spy submarines and CIA aid for Angola, Italian political parties and Kurdish rebels in Iraq.

One portion deals with efforts in 1972 by then-U.S. ambassador Graham Martin to have the CIA funnel $800,000 to an Italian intelligence official. The agency had objected to the payments, saying the Italian official was a "neo-Fascist."

Rep. John B. Anderson, R-Ill., said Pike could deliver the report to the House as a secret document rather than clear it with Ford — and said the full House could then look at it and decide whether to make it public.

"All I want the House to do is respect the agreements we have already made," Anderson said.

3 Juveniles Caught With Marijuana

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy Bill Dountz arrested three Pickaway juveniles Thursday who were involved with the illegal possession of marijuana.

A 17-year-old boy was charged with the possession for sale of an hallucinogen and using a motor vehicle to transport narcotics, one 16-year-old was charged with possession for the sale of an hallucinogen and another 16-year-old with the illegal possession of an hallucinogen.

While working on the case for some time, information received Thursday led to the immediate arrest of the trio.

Dountz apprehended the youths on Route 56 west of Circleville near Pherson. The driver of the vehicle voluntarily consented to a search of the vehicle. Deputy Dountz searched the auto and found eight $25 bags of marijuana and other paraphernalia.

The three youths, all presently on probation through the Pickaway County Juvenile Court, were transported to the jail where they were interrogated and the charges filed.

Appearing in court today, the 16-year-old charged with possession of an hallucinogen was released to the custody of his parents, while the other 16-year-old and 17-year-old were ordered to be held in detention at the Pickaway County Jail. The auto was ordered to be impounded.

They will appear in court 2 p.m. Wednesday.

Ohio Assembly Hits Snag In Metric Promotion

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — House sponsors will seek reconsideration of a defeated bill to ease Ohio's transition to the metric system, but they obviously have some minds to change.

Representatives rejected 31-60 Thursday, with 50 favorable votes needed for passage, the bill that requires public schools to teach the math system widely used outside the United States and destined for ultimate adoption in this country.

President Ford signed a federal act last month that starts conversion on a national scale to the system that utilizes measurements such as liters and kilometers instead of quarts, gallons, or miles.

Rep. John P. Brandenburg, R-20 Cincinnati, saw his bill flounder in a mass of red lights (no votes) on the chamber's electronic voting board after it was attacked on two major fronts.

One big objection involved the fact that the measure made no provision to reimburse local school districts for instructional materials they would approved proposal, which doesn't require the governor's signature, directly to the secretary of state for assignment to a place on the state's June 8 primary ballot.

If approved by voters, the first tandem election would occur in November 1978. Incumbent Lt. Gov. Richard F. Celeste would not be affected by provisions in the amendment allowing the legislature to set duties for his $30,000-a-year office.

In the absence of such action by the General Assembly, the resolution leaves it up to the governor to spell out duties of the lieutenant governor.

Senate dissenters, led by Sen. Stanley J. Aronoff, R-8 Cincinnati, attacked language that permits the General Assembly also to determine the fashion in which candidates for the two offices would be nominated. "It leaves it up to politics in the legislature," the veteran Hamilton County senator complained.

In other action, the House approved 87-4 a measure that makes draft revisions in Ohio's waterscraft safety laws. Rep. Frederick H. Deering, D-84 Monroeville, said the bill's main thrust is to comply Ohio statutes with the Federal Boating Safety Act of 1971.

One provision stirred brief controversy. Freshman Rep. Terry Tranter, D-24 Cincinnati, sought unsuccessfully to delete a part of the bill that permits tests for blood alcohol content of boat operators suspected of being intoxicated.

His amendment was tabled after Deering and others pointed out that such tests—unlike those required under the implied consent law covering highway vehicle operators—are voluntary on the part of the suspect.

The newly seated Cincinnati lawmaker, an attorney named to fill a House vacancy two weeks ago, maintained the provision would lead to abuse by enforcement officers "who happen to see a beer can in a boat."

Before it adjourned, the Senate completed passage and sent to the governor an emergency House bill permitting Cleveland's Metropolitan

General Hospital to become its own medical malpractice insurer, effective Feb. 1. Sponsors said the measure, which also gives the same privilege to other county and state hospitals, would save the Cleveland facility about $800,000 this year on premiums.

By an 89-1 vote, the House went along with a Senate measure that permits orphans of deceased or totally disabled servicemen to qualify for state scholarships even though their fathers entered military service in a state other than Ohio.

The bill, by Sen. Paul E. Gillmor, R-2 Port Clinton, states that the applicant student must have been a resident of Ohio for at least the preceding five years.

Rep. Joseph P. Tulley, R-59 Mentor, cast the only dissenting vote after contending sponsors had not adequately studied fiscal impact on the existing war orphans' scholarship program. Gillmor's bill has to go back to the Senate for consideration of House changes.

Long Distance Telephone Rates To Undergo Change

WASHINGTON (AP) — If you make long distance telephone calls, the chances are your monthly telephone bill will be going up on Feb. 12.

The American Telephone and Telegraph Co., filing for rate adjustments Thursday, said the average residential telephone bill will increase by about 10 cents per month. The average business customer will pay about $2 a month more if the Federal Communications Commission approves the new rates as expected.

The new rates submitted to the FCC would increase the cost of long distance calls made over short distances, while reducing the cost of calls made over longer distances. Calls in which operator assistance is required would undergo the sharpest increase.

For instance, a three minute direct-dialed evening call from Chicago to San Francisco would drop from 84 cents to 80 cents, but a station-to-station call between the same cities requiring operator assistance would rise from $1.90 for three minutes to $2.15.

AT&T says the hikes will make long distance calls about as expensive as in 1953 when the company began lowering its long distance rates.

The FCC approved a similar rate pattern on an interim basis last March 9, increasing about two-thirds of the interstate long-distance rates and either decreasing or keeping the others the same.

The precise amount of increases faced by each customer would depend upon the number and type of interstate calls made, their distance and duration, the time of the day and the day of the week.

Under the proposal, the shorter the distance the more the increase.

For instance, a one-minute daytime customer-dialed call from New York to Los Angeles would drop from 56 to 54 cents. A one-minute daytime call from New York to St. Louis would stay at 50 cents and a call from New York to Detroit would rise from 49 cents to 50 cents.

The AT&T filings followed an FCC decision Jan. 19 raising the company's rate of return on its interstate service rate from 8.74 per cent to 9.5 per cent for a $225 million a year increase.

AT&T has won three rate increases since Jan. 26, 1971. Previously, there were nine reductions, starting in 1953.

Consumers also have been hit with a flurry of local telephone increases the past year. AT&T, which through its Bell System operates about 85 per cent of the nation's telephones, reported rate increases were approved in 38 states last year and new increases are pending in 25 states and the District of Columbia.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market climbed again today in activity that surged back up to the record-breaking levels of earlier this month.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was up 6.45 at 975.20 on top of Thursday's 17.40-point jump. Gainers outpaced losers by about a 4-1 margin among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

The market got some encouragement this morning from New York's First National City Bank, which cut its prime lending rate from 6 1/2 to 6 1/4 per cent the lowest level in the key rate on corporate loans since the spring of 1973. Expectations that Citibank might make such a move had begun to build up in the market Thursday.

Shares of Citicorp, First National City's parent holding company, were the most active Big Board issue, rising 3/8 to 32 1/2.

The NYSE's composite index of all its listed common stocks picked up .46 to 53.58. The American Stock Exchange market value index gained .96 to 96.58. Equipment problems caused the Amex to halt stock trading for a short while at mid-morning.

Volume on the Big Board reached 19.76 million shares over the first two hours, up from 11.69 million in the like period Thursday and just off the pace of Jan. 15, when the full day's activity reached a record 38.45 million shares.

Peace Corps Seeks Agriculture Volunteers

The Peace Corps, international branch of ACTION — the federal agency for volunteer service, will be seeking skilled farmers from the Pickaway County area Wednesday to serve as agriculture volunteers in one of 69 developing nations in Africa, Asia or Latin America.

Former Peace Corps volunteer Ted Brunell, who served in India for two years, will be stationed at the Pickaway County Extension Office in Circleville from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Observing that opportunities exist in the Peace Corps for experienced farmers as well as recent college graduates and young people with farm backgrounds, Brunell says he is especially interested in talking with farmers who are concerned with solving problems of the world food shortage by serving in technical assistance programs such as the Peace Corps.

The Peace Corps agriculture programs include requests for a variety of skills ranging from agriculture extension, agronomy, horticulture, poultry, sheep, soil science, swine, veterinary science and general farming.

Seeking people who are either single or married with no children, the Peace Corps provides the volunteers with three months of language training in the country they are to serve. Peace Corps programs also pay for transportation, provide health benefits and teers are paid a monthly living allowance in addition to a monthly stipend. Although Peace Corps volunteers serve for two years, emergency leave and transportation costs are provided as well as annual vacation time.

Around the world some 7,000 Peace Corps volunteers and trainees are serving in a variety of self-help programs throughout Asia, Africa, Latin America, Micronesia, and the Eastern Caribbean Island nations.

In addition to farmers, the Peace Corps is also seeking interested skilled trades people, teachers, nurses, home economists and business people.

Interested people can visit the Agriculture Extension at 137 W. Franklin Street in Circleville; or call 474-7534.

Harden Speaks To Bar Assn.

Ned Harden, chairman of the Pickaway County Regional Planning Commission, spoke to the Pickaway County Bar Association at their regular monthly meeting last Tuesday.

Chairman Harden discussed the present subdivision regulations and some of the more common difficulties that occur in getting subdivisions approved. He requested the Bar Association to offer suggestions on improving the system and procedures used. A question and answer period followed with Harden and the other invited guests, which included Margaret Remy, county auditor; Henry McCrady, county engineer; and Priscella Steele, consultant to the planning commission, participating.

In other business, Richard L. Gerhardt, president of the Bar Association announced that plans for the May 1 Law Day activities were underway and that James Hill would be appointed chairman. The theme for Law Day this year is "200 Years of Law & Liberty." Thomas Tootle and Gene Long were appointed to the Legislative Committee by Gerhardt and asked to report at the next meeting on several pending bills.

It was announced that the Pickaway County Board of Commissioners had adopted the "court appointed" system for representation of indigents in Common Pleas Court and Juvenile Court, but that a fee schedule had not yet been approved.

Arrangements for representation of indigents for misdemeanors in Circleville Municipal Court have not yet been completed.

Police Check 4 Accidents During Storm

Four traffic accidents were investigated by Circleville Police Friday morning as slippery streets again proved treacherous for city residents.

There were no injuries reported in the crashes.

The accidents started at 6:47 a.m. when a driver slid into a parked car at E. Main and Washington Sts. At 7 a.m., a driver hit two parked cars on E. Main St. near E. Franklin, and at 7:12 a.m., a driver on the Kingston Pike slammed into a telephone pole near the Main St. intersection.

The most serious of the crashes occurred at 7 a.m. when a small, foreign car slid into a Penn Central switch engine on Huston St.

Police Ptl. John Bost said the engine, operated by Charles Dadasovseh of New Lexington, was in the crossing when a car driven by William H. Lagrow, 21, 130 Logan St., slammed into it.

The car was dragged 40 feet after impact. Neither Lagrow, nor a passenger, Richard H. Woltz, 20, 130 E. High St., were hurt.

Lagrow told Ptl. Bost that he was northbound on Court St. when he noticed that the signal gates were blocking the crossing. He apparently turned onto Huston St. and ran into the train.

In addition to the gates on Court St., flashing lights were in operation on Huston St.

Martha Frazier, 39, 1222 Turner Dr., was treated at Berger Hospital for minor back injuries she suffered in a two-car accident 10:56 a.m. Thursday at the intersection of E. Main St. and S. Washington St.

Police said she was stopped for the red light at the intersection when her car was struck in the rear by a car driven by Sandra K. Dixon, 28, Route 2, Ashville.

Ms. Dixon told police that her brakes failed to operate.

ALCOHOL: The New Teen-Age Turn-On

See Alcohol Abuse As Treatable

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
and BRIAN SULLIVAN
TENTH IN A SERIES

Alcoholism is treatable. But if there is any one thing clear about the treatment of the problem drinker it is that there is no single approach that works for everybody.

However, there are specific new efforts to help adolescents, although they are so far tentative. The problem with young people is just becoming visible and there are questions as to whether conventional approaches to problem drinking will work with young people.

The reasons people get into trouble with the misuse of alcohol vary widely, and the reasons can vary from episode to episode with the individual drinker.

In a farewell message at the end of his five years as director of the National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism, Dr. Morris E. Chafetz said that in the new efforts, including those aimed at young people, the NIAAA had enlisted the active commitment of states, hundreds of communities and thousands of people to help. Groups never before involved with the problem — citizens groups, service organizations, private enterprise — have been brought into the effort.

"The human right to humane treatment that traditionally has been denied alcoholic people is now becoming a reality in law and practice," he said.

Alcoholics Anonymous, which has had success with adult drinkers, welcomes any young person with a drinking problem. There are no statistics on how well AA may help young people, but the young people themselves, in a study conducted by Rutgers University, said they would look to AA for help if they felt they needed it.

There is Alateen, the youth part of AA, a group for the relatives of alcoholics. The young person with an alcohol problem, in addition, often has to cope with what the experts call "multi-drug use," alcohol with more conventional drugs, a situation which demands more advanced treatment.

The new awareness of young people with drinking problems has led the

NIAAA to support some new approaches:

—In a Philadelphia neighborhood, seen as a high risk area, a number of university students, along with senior and junior high school students and youngsters of elementary school age, participated in a peer group program. Older youths served as models and explored the concept of responsible alcohol use. "The project is experiencing excellent success, based on a number of indicators," NIAAA said, "including academic performance, acceptance of responsibility in the project, and changed drinking patterns."

—In Akron, Ohio, the NIAAA supported a YMCA program for elementary school students that brought in group leaders from area colleges who had been trained in alcoholism prevention. "On weekends, the program becomes family-oriented as parents gather with their children in workshops to discuss their interrelationships and methods by which decisions for living are made. Based on encouraging first-year results, the national YMCA plans to expand the program to 30 additional chapters throughout the country," the NIAAA reported.

There are a number of innovative local approaches being tried. In Northport, N.Y., a small community on Long Island, the local Narcotic Guidance Council has a 24-hour "hot line" service to help young people in difficulty, including alcohol problems.

The Community Council there says: "Alcohol has finally become recognized as a drug which is commonly abused by our school age and adult population."

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Friday, Jan. 30, the 30th day of 1976. There are 336 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:
On this date in 1933, Adolf Hitler became Chancellor of Germany.

On this date—
In 1649, King Charles I of England was beheaded.

In 1835, a would-be assassin fired two shots at President Andrew Jackson at the Capitol in Washington, but missed. It was the first attempt to assassinate an American president.

In 1847, the California town of Yerba Buena was renamed San Francisco. In 1889, Crown Prince Archduke Rudolf of Austria committed suicide.

In 1882, Franklin Roosevelt was born at Hyde Park, N.Y.

In 1948, the Indian nationalist leader, Mohandas Gandhi, was assassinated in New Delhi.

Ten years ago: A massive blizzard crippled the eastern United States, and some southern states registered the lowest temperatures on their records.

Five years ago: Some 400 U.S. bombers pounded southern Laos and the northwestern corner of South Vietnam in raids aimed at disrupting an enemy buildup.

One year ago: The U.S. program of conditional amnesty for military draft evaders and deserters was extended one month to March 1.

Today's birthdays: Actress Vanessa Redgrave is 39. Writer Barbara Tuchman is 64.

Thought for today: It is not best that we should all think alike; it is difference of opinion that makes horse races — Mark Twain, American writer, 1835-1910.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, a petition submitted by a number of non-commissioned officers of the militia in New York asked for back pay due them and said their services should be confined to the city, where their friends and relatives lived.

Judge Upholds Election Result

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — The reelection of Richard A. Porter as mayor of Mansfield has been upheld by Judge James J. Mayer of Richland County Common Pleas Court.

Ruling on evidence presented during a weeklong trial earlier this month, Mayer found that Porter, a Republican, defeated former Democratic city councilman Dan Martin in the closest mayoral race in the city's history.

Official tallies in the November election showed Porter beating Martin by just 17 votes.

However, Martin asked the court to order a new trial, charging that there were enough irregularities in ballots cast by patients at Mansfield General Hospital to give Martin the victory if the ballots were thrown out.

The judge said he found no reason to overturn the election since there was no fraud on the part of county election officials.

Martin said he will decide next week whether to appeal the decision to the Ohio Supreme Court.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I go to two different doctors. One is a general family physician. The other is a gynecologist.

They both prescribe drugs. I become concerned because I do not know if these drugs work against each other.

Mrs. T.A., Ohio

Dear Mrs. A.:

Your problem is an obvious lack of intercommunication between your two doctors and yourself.

I must assume that you have not told either one of them that you are going to the other. If you had, both would be aware of the drugs you are taking and, in consultation, decide if any of them are incompatible.

There are a great many drugs that are unaffected by others. This means that one may reduce the efficiency of another, and even work in conflict.

Your pharmacist has many talents, with his excellent background in chemistry. He, too, may be able to clarify for you the confusion that exists about the drugs you are taking.

It is six years since my father has had an amputation of the leg. He still complains bitterly of pain in the leg that is no longer there. How long does this go on?

Mr. J.H., La.

Dear Mr. H.:

The disorder that you refer to is known as the pain of a "phantom limb."

It is an unfortunate, added distress to the catastrophe of an amputation. The psychological overtones are great, in addition to the actual pain that these patients feel. It takes a great deal of effort by the doctor and the family to handle this extraordinary condition.

There are now a number of drugs and injections in the area of the spinal cord that can reduce the duration of this "phantom" pain.

There is no way to speculate how long this will last. With treatment, the intensity and the duration can be reduced.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH — The police and fire departments are dependable safeguards to health. The police and firemen are trained to handle many emergency situations. They and paramedical personnel can, in the absence of a doctor, render invaluable help.

Business World

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — An economy in disequilibrium, as that of 1975 certainly was, leads to some results and assumptions that require a second look. For example:

—Many people have the notion that 1975 was a very bad year for savers.

In some ways it was, of course, because people were without jobs and others were hard pressed to make ends meet because of inflation. Moreover, inflation erodes the value of savings.

The savings rate, however, actually rose, and quite sharply. Whereas a range of 6 per cent to 6.5 per cent is considered average, the rate in 1975 ranged from just under 8 per cent to more than 10 per cent.

The savings rate is generally guided by the degree of consumer confidence, and last year that confidence was very low. As confidence is revived, the savings rate will tend to drop, perhaps very slowly.

A very important factor in the degree of confidence will be the unemployment rate, which remains high and is expected to fall only slowly, even by federal government officials.

The jobless rate is viewed by many workers as a barometer of their own job security. When the rate is high, they postpone purchases and put their money in the bank instead.

—Last year was a very poor year for new home construction. You might therefore believe it was a very poor year for the savings and loan associations that lend money for home purchases.

You are wrong if you believe that. Home lenders had a pretty good year. In fact, the U.S. League of Savings Associations reported its members closed $54.8 billion of loans, the highest on record.

Three factors help explain what at first glance appears to be a mystery: Inflation, which pushed up prices; a healthy business in existing homes; and the availability of money to lend.

Whereas in 1974 the average price of an existing single-family house averaged $32,040, in 1975 it came to $35,180. While not always the case, higher prices generally require bigger loans.

While new home construction was off badly in 1975, the demand for existing homes rose. In 1974, the association members made mortgage loans on only 654,000 existing homes, but last year the total leaped to 1,220,000.

—Total cash sales of U.S. Savings Bonds hit a record high of more than $7 billion in 1975, the Department of the Treasury announced. Well, that record, like some others, should have an asterisk beside it.

The 1975 figure was 2.6 per cent above that of the 1974. But hold on — we used different measurements in each year. The dollar used to measure the 1975 "record" was worth a lot less than the 1974 dollar.

Depending on how you calculate it, the Consumer Price Index rose either 9.1 per cent or 7 per cent in 1975, which is a lot higher than the 2.6 per cent increase in the dollar value of bonds sold.

Woman Lives By Keeping Guard Post

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — Della Pierson would find it hard to pay rent out of her $50-a-month Social Security check so the 72-year-old widow lives rent free in her small two-room house by keeping watch out at an adjacent warehouse.

Mrs. Pierson keeps her eyes peeled for any suspicious afterhours visitors to the Valley Kitchens warehouse in exchange for her rent.

"I watch it more at night and answer the telephones when they need to be answered," she says. "I just run them out if they try to make a lobby station here. There's been no break-ins since I've been living here."

Mrs. Pierson has been living in the house, which currently has no running water or bathroom, since 1943. She goes across to the warehouse for water and recalls "I used to have an outhouse until a strong wind blew it over."

Her life is simple but efficient. In addition to her guard duties, Mrs. Pierson mows the grass and helps with the garden in back of the warehouse. In the summer, she picks raspberries and blackberries and what she cannot sell, she cans for herself.

"I clean my house, wash clothes and watch my soap operas," she says. "I also watch westerns and ballgames—but none of those fancy shows."

Mrs. Pierson buys what groceries her $50-a-month allowance will supply on Sunday after going to church. Going to church is her only outing since she does not drive a car.

"I ain't no car driver—and boy am I glad," she says.

She doesn't think she's enduring a hardship by living alone in an unmodern house and by living on $50 a month.

"I'm just the old maid who lives alone," she concludes. "I'm not lonesome. I'm happy as a lark. And I'm not afraid."

"I have quite a few friends."

The average physician in Ohio around the middle 1800's had to be satisfied with a quarter or a half dollar for a visit.

They Have Each Other

By JIM BISHOP

He's 90. She's 77. They live on Briarcliff Road in Los Angeles. Will and Ariel Durant have been writing "The Story of Civilization" for over 40 years. Volume II, "The Age of Napoleon," is the most recent.

It is a great life work, an enduring monument. The Durants are now so old that they have begun to resemble each other - snowy hair, bright eyes, pale skin, timid smiles to the world. Two scholars. Two people.

Sometimes, people are romantics. Dr. Durant married Ariel Kaufman 62 years ago. He was born in Kearny, N.J., in a religious family. His sister became a nun. Will, a small, sensitive student, earned his bachelor's degree, his master's and a doctorate a couple of years quicker than most students.

Then he broke with the Catholic Church and turned to literature and teaching. He was imparting knowledge of philosophy to a small class at Temple Labor School in New York when a student fell in love with him.

Ariel Kaufman lived in Harlem. Her parents were Jewish immigrants from Poland. She was small, a girl of 13 with the big smile of a kid who is seeing the circus for the first time.

After school she spoke of love. He spoke of philosophers. At 13, she was the voice of the future. At 25, he was 500 years behind her. In time, Dr. Durant begged Mr. Kaufman for permission to marry his daughter.

It was granted. Temple Labor School asked the professor to resign. He left. In 1913, schools were pluperfect proper. Ariel did not ask her father for the 5-cents subway fare to get from Harlem to a downtown judge's chambers.

She put on roller skates. The skinny legs flashed over sidewalks. Ariel fell. Dr. Durant was waiting with the judge when his child bride arrived. Her stockings were torn. Her knee was bloody. Her face was bruised. The skates hung around her neck.

The judge spent a patient hour trying to dissuade the little girl. He appealed to the teacher. They sat in silence. He married them.

They do not socialize. They have each other. He speaks slowly, as a professor should. Ariel talks in enthusiastic bursts. "I am his old shoe," she says, "hanging on all these years.

He loves me because I love him to distraction.

"My ears are open to the world. His mind is buried in the past. I am also his headache. I am the one who always asks, 'why?'"

The doctor never speaks when she interrupts. He smiles, he listens. "I work in longhand," he says. "Ariel types my stuff, tears it down, then I rewrite it. Then she tears it down again and it is ready."

"We know each other's thoughts and moods," she says. "It is important to know when to shut up. Once, at a forum, I kept talking. He kept passing plates of nuts to me. I ate the nuts and kept talking."

They have a daughter. And grandchildren. And each other. They write the great books together and their names appear on the covers. He speaks of what "we" wrote; "our" books. In spite of his enormous devotion to her, I left their company feeling that Ariel's love is too deep for description.

"He was my teacher and my master over 60 years ago," she says. "He wrote great things on my blank mind." She studies her shoes shyly. "He is still my teacher and my master."

Sitting behind her, the doctor shakes his head no. Without turning, Ariel reminds him that, on that day long ago, he forgot to buy a wedding ring.

Durant is embarrassed. He has suffered for this omission before. Ariel holds up her left hand and wiggles the index finger. It is bare. "He didn't buy one," she says, "and I never missed it."

On publication of "The Age of Napoleon" a few provincial critics tried to dissemble the Durant work because they relate history with imagery and figures of speech. "The academic wolves," one newspaper writer stated, "who have found these aged historians such easy pickings will set upon them for what should be the last time."

One hopes not. Will and Ariel have four more books to write . . .

ALCOHOL: The New Teen-Age Turn-On

See Alcohol Abuse As Treatable

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
and BRIAN SULLIVAN
TENTH IN A SERIES

Alcoholism is treatable. But if there is any one thing clear about the treatment of the problem drinker it is that there is no single approach that works for everybody.

However, there are specific new efforts to help adolescents, although they are so far tentative. The problem with young people is just becoming visible and there are questions as to whether conventional approaches to problem drinking will work with young people.

The reasons people get into trouble with the misuse of alcohol vary widely, and the reasons can vary from episode to episode with the individual drinker.

In a farewell message at the end of his five years as director of the National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism, Dr. Morris E. Chafetz said that in the new efforts, including those aimed at young people, the NIAAA had enlisted the active commitment of states, hundreds of communities and thousands of people to help. Groups never before involved with the problem — citizens groups, service organizations, private enterprise — have been brought into the effort.

"The human right to humane treatment that traditionally has been denied alcoholic people is now becoming a reality in law and practice," he said.

Alcoholics Anonymous, which has had success with adult drinkers, welcomes any young person with a drinking problem. There are no statistics on how well AA may help young people, but the young people themselves, in a study conducted by Rutgers University, said they would look to AA for help if they felt they needed it.

There is Alateen, the youth part of Al-Anon, a group for the relatives of alcoholics. The young person with an alcohol problem, in addition, often has to cope with what the experts call "multi-drug use," alcohol with more conventional drugs, a situation which demands more advanced treatment. The new awareness of young people with drinking problems has led the

NIAAA to support some new approaches:

—In a Philadelphia neighborhood, seen as a high risk area, a number of university students, along with senior and junior high school students and youngsters of elementary school age, participated in a peer group program. Older youths served as models and explored the concept of responsible alcohol use. "The project is experiencing excellent success, based on a number of indicators," NIAAA said, "including academic performance, acceptance of responsibility in the project, and changed drinking patterns."

—In Akron, Ohio, the NIAAA supported a YMCA program for elementary school students that brought in group leaders from area colleges who had been trained in alcoholism prevention. "On weekends, the program becomes family-oriented as parents gather with their children in workshops to discuss their interrelationships and methods by which decisions for living are made. Based on encouraging first-year results, the national YMCA plans to expand the program to 30 additional chapters throughout the country," the NIAAA reported.

There are a number of innovative local approaches being tried. In Northport, N.Y., a small community on Long Island, the local Narcotic Guidance Council has a 24-hour "hot line" service to help young people in difficulty, including alcohol problems.

The Community Council there says: "Alcohol has finally become recognized as a drug which is commonly abused by our school age and adult population."

Today is Friday, Jan. 30, the 30th day of 1976. There are 336 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:
On this date in 1933, Adolf Hitler became Chancellor of Germany.

On this date—

In 1649, King Charles I of England was beheaded.

In 1835, a would-be assassin fired two shots at President Andrew Jackson at the Capitol in Washington, but missed. It was the first attempt to assassinate an American president.

In 1847, the California town of Yerba Buena was renamed San Francisco.

In 1889, Crown Prince Archduke Rudolf of Austria committed suicide.

In 1882, Franklin Roosevelt was born at Hyde Park, N.Y.

In 1948, the Indian nationalist leader, Mohandas Gandhi, was assassinated in New Delhi.

Ten years ago: A massive blizzard crippled the eastern United States, and some southern states registered the lowest temperatures on their records.

Five years ago: Some 400 U.S. bombers pounded southern Laos and the northwestern corner of South Vietnam in raids aimed at disrupting an enemy buildup.

One year ago: The U.S. program of conditional amnesty for military draft evaders and deserters was extended one month to March 1.

Today's birthdays: Actress Vanessa Redgrave is 39. Writer Barbara Tuchman is 64.

Thought for today: It is not best that we should all think alike; it is difference of opinion that makes horse races — Mark Twain, American writer, 1835-1910.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, a petition submitted by a number of non-commissioned officers of the militia in New York asked for back pay due them and said their services should be confined to the city, where their friends and relatives lived.

Judge Upholds Election Result

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — The reelection of Richard A. Porter as mayor of Mansfield has been upheld by Judge James J. Mayer of Richland County Common Pleas Court.

Ruling on evidence presented during a weeklong trial earlier this month, Mayer found that Porter, a Republican, defeated former Democratic city councilman Dan Martin in the closest mayoral race in the city's history.

Official tallies in the November election showed Porter beating Martin by just 17 votes.

However, Martin asked the court to order a new trial, charging that there were enough irregularities in ballots cast by patients at Mansfield General Hospital to give Martin the victory if the ballots were thrown out.

The judge said he found no reason to overturn the election since there was no fraud on the part of county election officials.

Martin said he will decide next week whether to appeal the decision to the Ohio Supreme Court.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I go to two different doctors. One is a general family physician. The other is a gynecologist.

They both prescribe drugs. I become concerned because I do not know if these drugs work against each other.

Mrs. T.A., Ohio

Dear Mrs. A.:

Your problem is an obvious lack of intercommunication between your two doctors and yourself.

I must assume that you have not told either one of them that you are going to the other. If you had, both would be aware of the drugs you are taking and, in consultation, decide if any of them are incompatible.

There are a great many drugs that are unaffected by others. This means that one may reduce the efficiency of another, and even work in conflict.

Your pharmacist has many talents, with his excellent background in chemistry. He, too, may be able to clarify for you the confusion that exists about the drugs you are taking.

It is six years since my father has had an amputation of the leg. He still complains bitterly of pain in the leg that is no longer there. How long does this go on?

Mr. J.H., La.

Dear Mr. H.:

The disorder that you refer to is known as the pain of a "phantom limb."

It is an unfortunate, added distress to the catastrophe of an amputation. The psychological overtones are great, in addition to the actual pain that these patients feel. It takes a great deal of effort by the doctor and the family to handle this extraordinary condition.

There are now a number of drugs and injections in the area of the spinal cord that can reduce the duration of this "phantom" pain.

There is no way to speculate how long this will last. With treatment, the intensity and the duration can be reduced.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH — The police and fire departments are dependable safeguards to health. The police and firemen are trained to handle many emergency situations. They and paramedical personnel can, in the absence of a doctor, render invaluable help.

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — An economy in disequilibrium, as that of 1975 certainly was, leads to some results and assumptions that require a second look. For example:

—Many people have the notion that 1975 was a very bad year for savers. In some ways it was, of course, because people were without jobs and others were hard pressed to make ends meet because of inflation. Moreover, inflation erodes the value of savings.

The savings rate, however, actually rose, and quite sharply. Whereas a range of 6 per cent to 6.5 per cent is considered average, the rate in 1975 ranged from just under 8 per cent to more than 10 per cent.

The savings rate is generally guided by the degree of consumer confidence, and last year that confidence was very low. As confidence is revived, the savings rate will tend to drop, perhaps very slowly.

A very important factor in the degree of confidence will be the unemployment rate, which remains high and is expected to fall only slowly, even by federal government officials.

The jobless rate is viewed by many workers as a barometer of their own job security. When the rate is high, they postpone purchases and put their money in the bank instead.

—Last year was a very poor year for new home construction. You might therefore believe it was a very poor year for the savings and loan associations that lend money for home purchases.

You are wrong if you believe that. Home lenders had a pretty good year. In fact, the U.S. League of Savings Associations reported its members closed $54.8 billion of loans, the highest on record.

Three factors help explain what at first glance appears to be a mystery: Inflation, which pushed up prices; a healthy business in existing homes; and the availability of money to lend.

Whereas in 1974 the average price of an existing single-family home averaged $32,040, in 1975 it came to $35,180. While not always the case, higher prices generally require bigger loans.

While new home construction was off badly in 1975, the demand for existing homes rose. In 1974, the association members made mortgage loans on only 654,000 existing homes, but last year the total leaped to 1,220,000.

—Total cash sales of U.S. Savings Bonds hit a record high of more than $7 billion in 1975, the Department of the Treasury announced. Well, that record, like some others, should have an asterisk beside it.

The 1975 figure was 2.6 per cent above that of the 1974. But hold on — we used different measurements in each year. The dollar used to measure the 1975 "record" was worth a lot less than the 1974 dollar.

Depending on how you calculate it, the Consumer Price Index rose either 9.1 per cent or 7 per cent in 1975, which is a lot higher than the 2.6 per cent increase in the dollar value of bonds sold.

'New Religions' Said Receding

NEW YORK (AP) — The profusion of "new religions" that swept the American scene in the past 10 years is now receding, says a noted church historian in sizing up trends in faith foreseen for the rest of the 1970's.

He predicts a "settled down" period of stability for the mainline Christian and Jewish bodies.

But "the boom is over" for the various novel cults that have proliferated mainly among the young, says the Rev. Dr. Martin E. Marty, president of the University of Chicago

Divinity School.

He says all of them aren't likely to disappear in the immediate future, but some already have declined, leaving only traces. He said the survivors have "hardened," and, in general, no longer arouse the fascination they once did.

Although they had "claimed to be anti-institutional alternatives to the organized religion they condemned," he says, "they are now the most organized forms of organized religion around. That is, they rely on extreme discipline."

He says the main sign that their heyday is done is that "whereas the claims of these hit-and-run gurus used to be entertained seriously," they now are "treated either as mildly amusing, only mildly alarming and sometimes as being 'on the take.'"

Dr. Marty, a Lutheran, writing in Context, a semimonthly analysis of trends issued in Chicago by the Claretian Fathers, a Catholic order, says "nonhardened" marginal groups have survived by "secularizing themselves."

As an example, he cites "transcendental meditation," a technique which now disavows any religious links, although Dr. Marty says its religious roots were obvious when it first was imported to this country in the late 1960s.

He says other "exotic" religious styles, such as neo-Pentecostalism, also are slipping and that "the hard-line Jesus movement has long ago 'had it.'"

Of the various groups, he says, "their glamor is gone. The number of affluent young people and bored suburbanites on which they drew is decreasing. Hard times have been here long enough to cut down on the luxury of people free to drift."

As for the main bodies of organized religion, he says they are entering "a settled-down period" in which "expectations seem lower and a more realistic generation has learned to be surprised by small gains and graces."

A stabilizing trend is evident after several years of shrinking membership, he said.

"Only when measured against the artificial boom of the 1950's has there been great loss," he says.

"Many are also beginning to recognize that many of the losses must have come from the ranks of those who joined superficially in the 1950's revival. Except for their presence in the pews, they do not seem to be missed. Financial offerings, a good American test of faithfulness, do not seem to have suffered."

Team Candidacy Plan Slated For June 8 Ballot In Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohioans probably will be asked on the June 8 ballot if they want to elect their governor and lieutenant governor as a team, instead of under the existing system that elected men of opposite political parties.

The House revived Wednesday an embattled constitutional resolution that had languished in a joint conference committee for months. It was approved 61-36—just one vote more than the three-fifths majority required in the 99-member House.

Although the Senate still must act on the conference committee report, the six-member panel agreed on it unanimously, indicating Senate approval is likely. If approved by voters, the first governor-lieutenant governor team would appear on the November 1978 ballot.

In other action, the Senate added its approval to a House measure that creates 28 new judgeships in Ohio—including three each in the 1st and 8th District Courts of Appeals, in Cincinnati and Cleveland, respectively.

The other 20 judgeships would be created in existing courts of common pleas in the following manner: Geauga, Hancock, Lawrence, Marion, Ross, and Trumbull Counties would get one new judge each. Cuyahoga would get six new judges, Franklin, three; Montgomery, three, and Lucas, two.

Sponsors predicted the House will go along with Senate changes in the measure, sending it to Gov. James A. Rhodes. It carries an emergency clause, giving it immediate effect.

In other developments, the Democratic chairmen of the legislature's two finance committees introduced a revised budget for the commerce department.

Sen. Harry Meshel, D-33 Youngstown, and Myrl H. Shoemaker, D-88 Bourneville, said the bill will increase funding to enable the financially troubled department to carry out inspections and examinations required by the various divisions, including savings and loans and the state fire marshal's office.

However, the chairmen—who want to transfer consumer protection activities into the office of Atty. Gen. William J. Brown, a Democrat, said they will provide no funds to continue the department's consumer protection division for the remainder of the biennium.

Brown's office already has a consumer frauds division which was beefed up recently by the Democrat-dominated controlling board, of which Meshel and Shoemaker are both members.

Carter Delegates Set For Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Top Ohio officials of the presidential campaign of former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter have decided to run a slate of 38 statewide delegate candidates in the Democratic primary election June 8.

James Kittelson, a professor at Ohio State University and one of the Carter campaign coordinators, said a plan by Ohio Democratic party chief Paul Tipps to get his party's presidential candidates to agree not to oppose a favorite son slate is "deader than a doornail."

Answers For Veterans

EDITORS NOTE: Each week the Circleville Herald will publish a series of questions and answers of interest to veterans. These questions and answers are some of the many presented to James P. Shea, Pickaway County Veterans Service Officer. Any veteran desiring further information on any question presented in this column, or having any question concerning his Veterans Administration benefits should contact the Veterans Service at 219 S. Court St.

(Q.) I am a World II veteran, am I still entitled to a Direct GI Loan?

(A.) You are still entitled to a GI Loan. However, no veterans in Pickaway County are entitled to "Direct" GI Loans. This is because there are a number of lending agencies in Columbus that will lend money to Pickaway County veterans.

(Q.) I have never received my High School Diploma. I know the GI Bill allows a veteran to go to college, but will it also allow a veteran to complete his High School Education?

(A.) It most definitely will. And, while attending High School, although the VA does pay the normal benefits to which you are entitled, it does not deduct any time from your eligibility time.

(Q.) I am a Viet Nam veteran. I recently received the Viet Nam Bonus, and I am attending school under the GI Bill. Does my bonus money, and the money I receive from the VA have to be shown for income purposes.

(A.) When filing your annual income tax returns, income from the Viet Nam Bonus, or from any VA Benefit what so ever, is not counted as income. It is tax free.

(Q.) I understand that as of January 1, 1976, the VA granted something like an 8 per cent increase in pension benefits. If this is so, why did I get a reduction in my pension benefits as of January 1, 1976.

(A.) If you recall, you received something like a 12 per cent increase in Social Security benefits in 1975. The law requires that when a veteran who is receiving pension receives an increase in Social Security benefits, his pension benefit is reduced the following year. To help compensate for this, the VA passed a law effective January 1, 1976, which gave veterans receiving pension benefits an 8 per cent increase. Although you did receive a reduction, it is not as great a reduction as you would have received, had the new law not been passed.

(Q.) Is it possible to borrow money on my Government Life Insurance?

(A.) It certainly is, provided you have converted to a permanent plan of insurance. You cannot borrow on the 5LPT insurance, but if you have converted, you may borrow up to 94 per cent of the reserve value. The interest rate by the way is 5 per cent.

'New Religions' Said Receding

NEW YORK (AP) — The profusion of "new religions" that swept the American scene in the past 10 years is now receding, says a noted church historian in sizing up trends in faith foreseen for the rest of the 1970's.

He predicts a "settled down" period of stability for the mainline Christian and Jewish bodies.

But "the boom is over" for the various novel cults that have proliferated mainly among the young, says the Rev. Dr. Martin E. Marty, president of the University of Chicago

Divinity School.

He says all of them aren't likely to disappear in the immediate future, but some already have declined, leaving only traces. He said the survivors have "hardened," and, in general, no longer arouse the fascination they once did.

Although they had "claimed to be anti-institutional alternatives to the organized religion they condemned," he says, "they are now the most organized forms of organized religion around. That is, they rely on extreme discipline."

He says the main sign that their heyday is done is that "whereas the claims of these hit-and-run gurus used to be entertained seriously," they now are "treated either as mildly amusing, only mildly alarming and sometimes as being 'on the take.'"

Dr. Marty, a Lutheran, writing in Context, a semimonthly analysis of trends issued in Chicago by the Claretian Fathers, a Catholic order, says "nonhardened" marginal groups have survived by "secularizing themselves."

As an example, he cites "transcendental meditation," a technique which now disavows any religious links, although Dr. Marty says its religious roots were obvious when it first was imported to this country in the late 1960s.

He says other "exotic" religious styles, such as neo-Pentecostalism, also are slipping and that "the hard-line Jesus movement has long ago 'had it.'"

Of the various groups, he says, "their glamor is gone. The number of affluent young people and bored suburbanites on which they drew is decreasing. Hard times have been here long enough to cut down on the luxury of people free to drift."

As for the main bodies of organized religion, he says they are entering "a settled-down period" in which "expectations seem lower and a more realistic generation has learned to be surprised by small gains and graces."

A stabilizing trend is evident after several years of shrinking membership, he said.

"Only when measured against the artificial boom of the 1950's has there been great loss," he says.

"Many are also beginning to recognize that many of the losses must have come from the ranks of those who joined superficially in the 1950's revival. Except for their presence in the pews, they do not seem to be missed. Financial offerings, a good American test of faithfulness, do not seem to have suffered."

Team Candidacy Plan Slated For June 8 Ballot In Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohioans probably will be asked on the June 8 ballot if they want to elect their governor and lieutenant governor as a team, instead of under the existing system that elected men of opposite political parties.

The House revived Wednesday an embattled constitutional resolution that had languished in a joint conference committee for months. It was approved 61-36—just one vote more than the three-fifths majority required in the 99-member House.

Although the Senate still must act on the conference committee report, the six-member panel agreed on it unanimously, indicating Senate approval is likely. If approved by voters, the first governor-lieutenant governor team would appear on the November 1978 ballot.

In other action, the Senate added its approval to a House measure that creates 28 new judgeships in Ohio—including three each in the 1st and 8th District Courts of Appeals, in Cincinnati and Cleveland, respectively.

The other 20 judgeships would be created in existing courts of common pleas in the following manner: Geauga, Hancock, Lawrence, Marion, Ross, and Trumbull Counties would get one new judge each. Cuyahoga would get six new judges, Franklin, three; Montgomery, three; and Lucas, two.

Sponsors predicted the House will go along with Senate changes in the measure, sending it to Gov. James A. Rhodes. It carries an emergency clause, giving it immediate effect.

In other developments, the Democratic chairmen of the legislature's two finance committees introduced a revised budget for the commerce department.

Sen. Harry Meshel, D-33 Youngstown, and Myrl H. Shoemaker, D-88 Bourneville, said the bill will increase funding to enable the financially troubled department to carry out inspections and examinations required by the various divisions, including savings and loans and the state fire marshal's office.

However, the chairmen—who want to transfer consumer protection activities into the office of Atty. Gen. William J. Brown, a Democrat, said they will provide no funds to continue the department's consumer protection division for the remainder of the biennium.

Brown's office already has a consumer frauds division which was beefed up recently by the Democrat-dominated controlling board, of which Meshel and Shoemaker are both members.

Carter Delegates Set For Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Top Ohio officials of the presidential campaign of former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter have decided to run a slate of 38 statewide delegate candidates in the Democratic primary election June 8.

James Kittelson, a professor at Ohio State University and one of the Carter campaign coordinators, said a plan by Ohio Democratic party chief Paul Tipps to get his party's presidential candidates to agree not to oppose a favorite son slate is "deader than a doornail."

Answers For Veterans

EDITORS NOTE: Each week the Circleville Herald will publish a series of questions and answers of interest to veterans. These questions and answers are some of the many presented to James P. Shea, Pickaway County Veterans Service Officer. Any veteran desiring further information on any question presented in this column, or having any question concerning his Veterans Administration benefits should contact the Veterans Service at 219 S. Court St.

(Q.) I am a World II veteran, am I still entitled to a Direct GI Loan?

(A.) You are still entitled to a GI Loan. However, no veterans in Pickaway County are entitled to "Direct" GI Loans. This is because there are a number of lending agencies in Columbus that will lend money to Pickaway County veterans.

(Q.) I have never received my High School Diploma. I know the GI Bill allows a veteran to go to college, but will it also allow a veteran to complete his High School Education?

(A.) It most definitely will. And, while attending High School, although the VA does pay the normal benefits to which you are entitled, it does not deduct any time from your eligibility time.

(Q.) I am a Viet Nam veteran. I recently received the Viet Nam Bonus, and I am attending school under the GI Bill. Does my bonus money, and the money I receive from the VA have to be shown for income purposes?

(A.) When filing your annual income tax returns, income from the Viet Nam Bonus, or from any VA Benefit what so ever, is not counted as income. It is tax free.

(Q.) I understand that as of January 1, 1976, the VA granted something like an 8 per cent increase in pension benefits. If this is so, why did I get a reduction in my pension benefits as of January 1, 1976.

(A.) If you recall, you received something like a 12 per cent increase in Social Security benefits in 1975. The law requires that when a veteran who is receiving pension receives an increase in Social Security benefits, his pension benefit is reduced the following year. To help compensate for this, the VA passed a law effective January 1, 1976, which gave veterans receiving pension benefits an 8 per cent increase. Although you did receive a reduction, it is not as great a reduction as you would have received, had the new law not been passed.

(Q.) Is it possible to borrow money on my Government Life Insurance?

(A.) It certainly is, provided you have converted to a permanent plan of insurance. You cannot borrow on the SLPT insurance, but if you have converted, you may borrow up to 94 per cent of the reserve value. The interest rate by the way is 5 per cent.

American Legion Auxiliary Schedules Future Events

Plans for February and March were made during the Monday evening meeting of Unit 134 American Legion Auxiliary in the Post Home. Mrs. Betty Sabine, president, presided during the business session opened with prayer by Maggie Mavis, chaplain.

The unit will hold a bake sale, February 14 with the location to be announced later. Members were reminded to mark their calendars for Mid-Winter Conference, February 20-21 at Neil House Motor Hotel, Columbus. Registration will open 2 p.m. on Friday with general assembly promptly at 7 p.m. in the Presidential Ballroom. Unit 25, Washington C.H., will host the Spring Roundtable of Seventh District Units on March 14 in its Post Home.

Hall-Adkins American Legion Post 134 will hold its Birthday Dinner on March 20 in the Post Home and the unit will assist with decorating, cocktail hour, preparation and serving the dinner and preparing the centerpieces. Members wishing to help in any way should contact Mrs. Sabine.

Forty-three patients of Ward 1C, Veterans Hospital, Chillicothe were entertained during the January visit of the unit. Several letters of appreciation from Richard L. Comstock, chief of Voluntary Services were read. Mrs. Harold Hoffman, Americanism chairman, briefly discussed Buckeye Girls State as the time rapidly approaches for selection of delegates and alternates. Poppies for the annual Poppy Day were ordered and will be made by veterans at Ohio Soldiers and Sailors Home, Sandusky.

The unit discussed the small country of Belize (British Honduras) Central America to whose people the entire auxiliary organization has extended a helping hand this year. It lies in the northern portion of Central America. Only three per cent of the land is presently under cultivation and because of the high cost of importing most of the food along with low income of most families, they are being encouraged to form cooperatives to produce larger crops. The American Legion Auxiliary is working with CARE to provide an Agricultural expert with special knowledge. Forty Peace Corp Volunteers with agricultural degrees and special training will work with the Ministry of Agriculture, Land and Cooperatives. A donation was made to CARE by the local unit to help purchase small tractors, tools, fertilizers and insecticides.

The chaplain closed the meeting with prayer and members were invited to the refreshment table by Jo Hunter and Cecelia Hoffman.

Ashland Oil Profits Jump

ASHLAND, Ky. (AP) — Ashland Oil Inc. board chairman Orin Atkins told stockholders today the giant conglomerate had reaped $40.8 million in profits during the first quarter of fiscal year 1976.

"This is the best quarterly earning in the history of the company," he said. "It compares with $36.9 million during the first quarter of 1974, and amounts to $1.54 per share, as compared with $1.40 a share last year."

Ashland Oil's first fiscal quarter covers the last three months of 1975.

Atkins said the company earned $74 million before taxes during the last three months of 1975, and a total of $243 million before taxes during the last fiscal year.

"But, of course, the tax collector always wants more," he added. "We paid almost $45 million in foreign taxes alone last year, and sometimes I wonder whether we are working for the stockholders or the tax collectors."

However, he then said that he felt the future of Ashland Oil was excellent, and that the increased earnings had prompted the company's board of directors to increase the company's dividend on common stock 20 cents a share, from $1.50 to $1.70 a share.

He said the company's new 42½-cent quarterly rate is payable to stockholders of record Feb. 9, 1976, for the dividend payable on March 15, 1976.

Alligator Discovered In River

FORT THOMAS, Ky. (AP) — Federal and state wildlife officials plan to huddle today to determine whether an alligator could survive and live in the sub-zero temperatures on the Ohio River or whether someone recently dumped it there.

Police Sgt. Jack Bradford found a frozen, 6-foot alligator Wednesday in a ditch carrying storm water into the Ohio River.

Bradford said an immediate dispute arose over whether the reptile had been dumped or had actually been living in the river.

Northern Kentucky State College Biology Professor Jerry Carpenter insisted the alligator was probably dumped. Others told Bradford the alligator might have lived there, despite sub-zero temperatures because of the warm water coming out of the sewer lines in the area.

Bradford said he was told the animal might be part of a load of reptiles unaccounted for in the crash of a cargo plane at Lunken Airport, across the Ohio River in Cincinnati in 1963.

Fort Thomas Police Chief Edward Schmitt, an amateur taxidermist, planned to skin and mount the alligator in his office to go with two deer heads. But Kentucky Wildlife officer Wendall Porter, assigned to Northern Kentucky, said he couldn't.

Porter hauled the alligator off from the police station and put the carcass in his basement freezer. He said it was an endangered species and the chief could not use it.

Porter contacted federal wildlife officials in Louisville who are expected to make an inspection Friday.

Historical fiction set in the West Indies creates plenty of passion and violence. "The Devil's Own" by Christopher Nicole is the story of a sugar plantation, its arrogant mistress and her swashbuckling husband.

"By Command Of The Viceroy" by Duncan MacNeil is another in the "Captain Ogilvie" series. This one, filled with intrigue, follows an exciting trek from the Khyber to Katmandu.

"Doors" by Ezra Hannon is a racy story about a smart burglar and his capers. It's for the reader who likes sophisticated suspense.

A new issue of Agatha Christie's "Cards On The Table" and a romantic suspense by Katherine St. Clair titled "Room Beneath The Stairs" round out the fiction arrivals this week.

Applications For YCC Program Available

Applications for the 1976 Youth Conservation Corps (YCC) work-learn-earn program in Ohio have been sent to all junior and senior high schools, vocational schools and offices of the Bureau of Employment Services, Robert W. Teater, Director of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources announced today.

The YCC program is open to all young men and women, age 15 through 18, who are permanent residents of the United States.

Sponsored by the Department of Natural Resources and the U.S. Agriculture and Interior Departments, YCC has been highly successful during the past several years. Over 1,000 youths have participated in the program in Ohio. In 1974 Ohio became the first state to be approved by the federal government to operate a YCC program. Two federal YCC camps in Ohio have been in operation since 1971.

YCC participants for 1976 will be selected with the aid of a computer setup in Washington, D.C., to ensure youths are selected randomly without regard to social, economic, racial or ethnic backgrounds, said David Franklyn, Chief of the Natural Resources Department's Office of Personnel and Employee Services, which coordinates the state YCC program.

The youths will perform conservation work on state and federally-owned facilities, attending one of two four-week camp sessions in June, July and August. Both residential and nonresidential camps will be provided in Ohio.

Typical projects performed by YCC work crews include trail construction, land reclamation, timber stand improvement, erosion control and wildlife habitat improvement.

YCC campers also participate in conservation education programs under the guidance of experts in the environmental and resource management fields, Franklyn said.

Youths interested in participating in the YCC program this year should file their applications as soon as possible. The deadline is March 19.

All applications should be completed according to the instructions on the form provided and mailed to: Ohio YCC Selection Office, P.O. Box 23400, L'Enfant Plaza, Washington, D. C. 20040. Applications may be picked up in Circleville City Schools Guidance Offices.

Applicants will be notified in late April whether or not they have been selected. For those selected, instructions will be provided concerning camp assignments, reporting dates and other details.

Heart Fells Bus Driver

CINCINNATI (AP) — School days just aren't the same anymore for a group of students at Pleasant Run Junior High.

Their bus driver and friend Joseph Kaiser is gone.

He was found dead Wednesday, slumped over the school bus wheel, just after students had left the bus for classes.

The 64-year-old Kaiser, of Colerain Township, apparently suffered a heart attack and was pronounced dead on arrival at General Hospital.

David Bringman, transportation supervisor for the Northwest School District, said students began crying in classes after learning of the bus driver's death. Bringman drove the bus home and said homebound students wept for Kaiser, who had driven the bus for 16 years.

"He was just a heck of a guy," Bringman said. "We all knew him pretty well. He used to stop in the office and I'd always ask how he felt. He'd always reply, 'Pretty good for an old plug.'"

Mass of Christian Burial is scheduled for Saturday.

More On Mail To Unmarried Oldsters

DEAR ABBY: In reply to FLORIDA RETIREES, who questioned how to address mail to couples living together though not married:

My preference may not be proper etiquette, but it solves the problem for me.

I address mail to "Mary and Jon Smith"—using neither Mr. or Mrs. I use Mary's name first because I know that she is Mary Jones and not Mary Smith, but the mailman doesn't have to know.

GRACE IN MICHIGAN
DEAR GRACE: The mailman probably knows as much as you know, but couldn't care less.

DEAR ABBY: For years I wore my wedding ring first with my diamond on the outside. I had been told by the jeweler that that was the "correct" way to wear them, but I didn't know that it was to keep the wedding ring "closest to the heart" until I read it in your column.

But let me tell you why I don't wear them that way anymore: About five years ago, I was eating peanuts at a ball game, and my diamond ring slipped off my finger into the peanut sack. Luckily, I found it among the peanut shells, and when I put it back on my finger, I put it on first and put my wedding band on the outside. Sign me

DEAR BETTER: Speaking from a materialistic point of view, you're protecting the more "valuable" ring. But symbolically speaking, it's easier to replace a diamond than a wedding band.

You are all wrong.
If the girl doesn't like the guy enough to kiss him, she shouldn't go out with him in the first place!

18-YEAR-OLD GIRL
DEAR "18": How is the girl supposed to know how much (or little) she likes a guy until she goes out with him?

DEAR ABBY: This is for D, who was concerned about her male friend because he carried his own salad dressing in a little jar and sprinkled wheatgerm on his food.

D's main concern should be keeping up with him in the bedroom. I don't know about the salad dressing, but I know a man who uses wheatgerm regularly on his cereal, and he's dynamite in that department.

Alligator Discovered In River

FORT THOMAS, Ky. (AP) — Federal and state wildlife officials plan to huddle today to determine whether an alligator could survive and live in the sub-zero temperatures on the Ohio River or whether someone recently dumped it there.

Police Sgt. Jack Bradford found a frozen, 6-foot alligator Wednesday in a ditch carrying storm water into the Ohio River.

Bradford said an immediate dispute arose over whether the reptile had been dumped or had actually been living in the river.

Northern Kentucky State College Biology Professor Jerry Carpenter insisted the alligator was probably dumped. Others told Bradford the alligator might have lived there, despite sub-zero temperatures because of the warm water coming out of the sewer lines in the area.

Bradford said he was told the animal might be part of a load of reptiles unaccounted for in the crash of a cargo plane at Lunken Airport, across the Ohio River in Cincinnati in 1963.

Fort Thomas Police Chief Edward Schmitt, an amateur taxidermist, planned to skin and mount the alligator in his office to go with two deer heads.

But Kentucky Wildlife officer Wendall Porter, assigned to Northern Kentucky, said he couldn't.

Porter hauled the alligator off from the police station and put the carcass in his basement freezer. He said it was an endangered species and the chief could not use it.

Porter contacted federal wildlife officials in Louisville who are expected to make a inspection Friday.

The entire situation, in the words of a police dispatcher, "is the craziest thing we've had around here since some kids kidnapped a Santa Claus statue four years ago and held it for a ransom of four candy bars."

"The Kissing Noodles ... or Westward, Mr. Ho" is a rollicking novel by Max Wilk. It's destined to make you smile. It's filled with zany characters, unlikely to be found either in the State Dept. or the CIA!

Jefferson CCCU Schedules Film, 'Thief in Night'

The Mark IV Production of "A Thief in the Night", a mighty motion picture about Bible Prophecy, will be shown 7:30 p.m. Sunday in the Ferguson Memorial Activity Center at the Jefferson Church of Christ in Christian Union, Circleville-Tarilton Road.

This exciting story, displaying what can happen when Jesus Christ returns, centers around Patty, an average girl caught up in living for the present with little concern about the future. What happens when this thinking finally catches up with her provides an action packed, unforgettable drama.

The fast moving pace includes a young man confronted by a deadly Asian cobra, a young girl's daring escape from jail, and a take-over by "The Imperium" that regards all, who are not properly identified, as enemies of the system.

Filed on location in Iowa, this picture portrays with devastating reality the Biblical prediction, "There will be no place to hide." One does not merely view this film, he experiences it. Every thinking person will seriously consider its impact.

"A Thief In The Night" was given the "Best Film of the Year" award by the National Evangelical Film Foundation of Valley Forge, Pennsylvania. The lead actress, Miss Patty Dunning, was given the "Outstanding Female Actress" award at the same time.

The Rev. Roy Heimbach is the pastor of the church.

Be still, and know that I am God: I will be exalted among the heathen, I will be exalted in the earth. Psalm 46:10

Brown Wants Stamp Reform

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Clarence J. Brown, R-Ohio, in testimony before the House Agriculture Committee called Thursday for reform of the federal food stamp program.

The Urbana lawmaker is cosponsor of a food stamp reform measure being considered in the house.

Jeffers in CCCU Schedules Film, 'Thief in Night'

The Mark IV Production of "A Thief in the Night", a mighty motion picture about Bible Prophecy, will be shown 7:30 p.m. Sunday in the Ferguson Memorial Activity Center at the Jefferson Church of Christ in Christian Union, Circleville-Tarleton Road.

This exciting story, displaying what can happen when Jesus Christ returns, centers around Patty, an average girl caught up in living for the present with little concern about the future. What happens when this thinking finally catches up with her provides an action packed, unforgettable drama.

The fast moving pace includes a young man confronted by a deadly Asian cobra, a young girl's daring escape from jail, and a take-over by "The Imperium" that regards all, who are not properly identified, as enemies of the system.

Filed on location in Iowa, this picture portrays with devastating reality the Biblical prediction, "There will be no place to hide." One does not merely view this film, he experiences it. Every thinking person will seriously consider its impact.

"A Thief In The Night" was given the "Best Film of the Year" award by the National Evangelical Film Foundation of Valley Forge, Pennsylvania. The lead actress, Miss Patty Dunning, was given the "Outstanding Female Actress" award at the same time.

The Rev. Roy Heimbach is the pastor of the church.

Be still, and know that I am God: I will be exalted among the heathen. I will be exalted in the earth. Psalm 46:10

Scouts Hold Klondike Derby

Pickaway District of the Central Ohio Council of Boy Scouts of America held its annual Klondike Derby Jan. 24 and 25 near Deer Creek State Park by permission of the Army Corps of Engineers.

Scouts in 12 patrols from seven troops participated in winter activities planned by the district committee. The Troops participating were 343 of Five Points, 205, 52 and 170 of Circleville, 55 of Jefferson Addition and 484 of Tarlton. A group of Webelos Cub Scouts camped with the Boy Scouts.

A mile-long trail was set up Saturday morning in wooded hilly terrain near the tail waters of Deer Creek. Various events were set up along the trail and each patrol took to the trail in the afternoon through the snow with their Klondike sleds made up of sapling, other wood materials and lashings.

Along the trail the scouts participated in the following contests: wood sawing, knots, fire building, match strike, nature, first aid, scout questions and a flap jack flip race. These events were run by the various scoutmasters and the Eagle Patrol of Troop 343.

At 3:30 all the scouts reassembled in an open meadow and participated in the sled derby.

After supper, a campfire was held. Scouts and leaders participated in a short worship service, skits, songs and other activities. Event ribbons were awarded to the patrols and patches were given to all the participants. Receiving the Presidential Award for best over-all performance was Troop 205. The Hawk Patrol of 343 won a like award for winning the sled derby.

Hosts for the event were the Eagle Scouts of Troop 343, their scoutmaster Tom Finch, Basil Green of the Acofe, and Tom Spring. Over 100 boys and leaders participated in the winter derby.

Plans are now being made for a spring camporee at Deer Creek.

Sargent Shriver Pushes Public Works Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sargent Shriver proposes the biggest public works program since the New Deal to put unemployed Americans to work on "socially useful" programs at a first-year cost of $5.5 billion.

Except for the first two years of his job program, Shriver does not give cost figures for his proposals. He also does not say how much his proposed tax and regulatory reforms would save the government in order to pay for his new program. His campaign headquarters could not provide such details despite repeated requests.

Shriver, seeking the Democratic presidential nomination, says:

"Because of the reduction in unemployment payments and the increase in personal income tax revenues that would result, this program, in terms of federal revenues, would largely pay for itself. The huge current deficits are due almost wholly to the recession. Each one per cent reduction of unemployment cuts the government deficit by almost $20 billion."

Shriver's figure of $20 billion is high by most estimates, but economists and politicians generally agree that each one per cent drop in unemployment reduces the deficit by about $15 billion.

(Economists differ about the cost of creating public jobs, pointing out the nation has little experience at this except for the Depression era. Between 1935 and 1943, the Works Progress Administration spent $11 billion to put 8.5 million to work.

(One economist said an annual figure in the area of $9,000 a job was realistic today, but noted that this was a gross cost, not reflecting increased taxes and lower social welfare payments. Other economists have put the net cost of a job at $4,000 a year.

(Figures developed by the Congressional Economic and Budget Committee show that every per cent of unemployment above a base level of 2 to 3 per cent costs the federal government $15 billion in lost tax revenues and social welfare payments.)

The biggest plank in Shriver's economic plan is a government jobs program to put 1.6 million people to work in the first year, 1.3 million the second and declining numbers in subsequent years until recession is licked. There are now about 8 million people unemployed.

Shriver estimated that his plan would cost $5.5 billion in the year it took effect — about a $3,350 gross cost per job — and declining amounts in later years. It would be spent on jobs in such fields as transportation, health and environment.

He did not say where the money would come from. But he claimed he could do it with an additional deficit of about $500 million if applied to the current budget, which is expected to be $76 billion in the red when the fiscal year ends June 30.

Shriver did suggest a number of steps which he said would save the government money and offset the costs of his spending programs. Among these are elimination of tax exemptions for corporations and wealthy individuals which, by federal government estimates, could save over $10 billion a year alone.

Other economic proposals in Shriver's program include:

—Private employment incentives to supplement the public works program. Shriver doesn't say what that would cost.

—Continuing the current $18 billion a year tax cut and possibly increasing it if necessary to boost the economy.

—Lower interest rates and an expanded money supply, even if it means altering the traditionally independent status of the Federal Reserve Board which controls monetary policy. That would require a change in federal law.

—Stockpiling of food, linked with increased production at home and internationally. Again, there was no cost estimate.

To offset the inflationary impact of these spending programs and repay some of their costs, Shriver proposes steps including tax reform and wage-price guidelines with standby authority for mandatory controls. He does not provide figures for how much the reforms would save.

Shriver says his program would produce a deficit only marginally bigger than the Ford budget if applied this year. He claims it would cut the federal deficit to $41 billion in fiscal 1977 against the $43 billion which Ford projects.

But Shriver does not give figures to show how he could spend a minimum of $5.5 billion more without adding to taxes or the national deficit except for the hoped-for ripple effect on the economy.

But he said his program was run through a computer model of the U.S. economy by Data Resources, Inc., of Lexington, Mass., a private firm. The computer model contained figures on current conditions in the economy and equations, based on conventional economic wisdom, on what the impact of certain changes would be. The value of using computer models to predict economic change is subject to debate among economists. Some say the models can never take into account all the variables in the huge American economic system.

When Shriver's job program, coupled with his easier money proposal, was fed into this model, the computer firm estimated that along with other anticipated changes in the economy, government expenses would rise about $20 billion. Revenues would increase by $32 billion for a net gain of $12 billion by 1981.

Adding the unspecified savings from tax reform and other measures, Shriver says the federal budget would then show a surplus.

As a supplement to the public works program, Shriver proposes tax incentives to private industry for hiring the unemployed or for job producing investment. No figures were given for this program.

The former Peace Corps and poverty war director said linking tax cuts with reduced federal spending as proposed by Ford "would nullify the point of the tax cut."

"The purpose of the income tax cut is to give the people money to spend, so that there will be purchasing power and in turn, jobs," he said. "If at the same time you cut spending, you are nullifying what you did by cutting the taxes."

"Some federal spending can be mitigated or checked," Shriver said. "but the only way to eliminate federal deficits is not primarily through checking federal spending but through increasing income."

Scouts Hold Klondike Derby

Pickaway District of the Central Ohio Council of Boy Scouts of America held its annual Klondike Derby Jan. 24 and 25 near Deer Creek State Park by permission of the Army Corps of Engineers.

Scouts in 12 patrols from seven troops participated in winter activities planned by the district committee. The troops participating were 343 of Five Points, 205, 52 and 170 of Circleville, 55 of Jefferson Addition and 484 of Tarlton. A group of Webelos Cub Scouts camped with the Boy Scouts.

A mile-long trail was set up Saturday morning in wooded hilly terrain near the tail waters of Deer Creek. Various events were set up along the trail and each patrol took to the trail in the afternoon through the snow with their Klondike sleds made up of sapling, other wood materials and lashings.

Along the trail the scouts participated in the following contests: wood sawing, knots, fire building, match strike, nature, first aid, scout questions and a flap jack flip race. These events were run by the various scoutmasters and the Eagle Patrol of Troop 343.

At 3:30 all the scouts reassembled in an open meadow and participated in the sled derby.

After supper, a campfire was held. Scouts and leaders participated in a short worship service, skits, songs and other activities. Event ribbons were awarded to the patrols and patches were given to all the participants. Receiving the Presidential Award for best over-all performance was Troop 205. The Hawk Patrol of 343 won a like award for winning the sled derby.

Hosts for the event were the Eagle Scouts of Troop 343, their scoutmaster Tom Finch, Basil Green of the Acofe, and Tom Spring. Over 100 boys and leaders participated in the winter derby.

Plans are now being made for a spring camporee at Deer Creek.

"The high school in Syracuse is very modern," states Sharon. "Students can watch movies during study halls. There are also three lunch rooms, carpeting, and a swimming pool."

"The Syracuse students like to have a good time instead of going for so many sports," explains Sharon. "The sports are the same except they also play hockey. The girls go out for the same sports as boys."

Sharon's likes are buying clothes, writing letters, listening to rock music and especially Syracuse, N. Y. Her dislike is unfriendly people.

Guidance Guidelines

By DEBBIE DOWNEY

Applications to attend the Pickaway-Ross Vocational Center have been made available to interested sophomores and juniors. The application period extends through February 15 and students are encouraged to apply by that time to receive consideration during the first processing period.

A quota of four students in most of the vocational programs has been established for Circleville this year. This means that up to four applicants per program are guaranteed admission if they have the required minimum units of high school credit. These minimum requirements include two credits of English, one each of math, science, social studies, and physical education and health. If more than four qualified applicants apply for the same program, the Vocational Center personnel determine who is offered admission. Experience has shown that many programs do not attract four qualified applicants while a few are over-subscribed.

Five Vocational Center programs are open to students who do not meet all of the requirements listed above. They are clerical services, food services, diversified home economics, occupational work experience, and occupational laboratory. Students who enter these programs must make up deficiencies to receive their high school diplomas. Generally, students who enroll in these programs tend to achieve better than they have in their regular academic school program.

"I think we can be proud of our 10-1 season, but we haven't hit our peak yet and our best games are ahead of us," commented CHS varsity basketball coach Jim Bailey.

Bailey said that to make the most of the season ahead, the tiger team would have to be more consistent.

He said he doesn't feel that any one game will be tough. He feels that "every game ahead will be a hard one."

Wilmington is the team's challenge tonight. The next home game will be with Madison Plains February 13.

Bridge Open At Cincy

CINCINNATI (AP)—Two-lane traffic has been opened over the $22 million I-471 Ohio River Bridge connecting Cincinnati to Newport, Ky. and officials are hopeful the move will help ease congestion during morning and evening rush hours on other area bridges.

Transportation officials said an adjacent three-lane span upstream will be opened later. It will carry northbound traffic only while the downstream span will be southbound only.

Construction on the bridge began in 1970.

Traffic using the I-471 span will enter from Cincinnati from Fort Washington Wasy eastbound or Eggleston Avenue, exiting on Eggleston Avenue. In Newport, traffic will enter from Riverside Drive (Ky. 8) and exit at Third Street and Park Avenue.

SHARON RUMBAUGH

New Student Comes From New York

By VICKI LOUCKS

"I find CHS students friendly," says sophomore Sharon Rumbaugh. She is a new student who is formerly from Syracuse, N. Y.

Sharon says Circleville is "okay but tiny" compared to where she used to live. She comments, "There isn't anything to do here and there are very few shopping areas."

"The high school in Syracuse is very modern," states Sharon. "Students can watch movies during study halls. There are also three lunch rooms, carpenter, and a swimming pool."

"The Syracuse students like to have a good time instead of going for so many sports," explains Sharon. "The sports are the same except they also play hockey. The girls go out for the same sports as boys."

Sharon's likes are buying clothes, writing letters, listening to rock music and especially Syracuse, N. Y. Her dislike is unfriendly people.

Sharon resides at 351 Juhl Road with her parents and brother David. Her father is manager of the new Murphy Mart.

Willie's Dillies

By BILL McGAFFNEY
Herald Sports Editor

With the regular basketball season moving into the late stages we find that our Pickaway County teams are not doing half bad, with all four teams showing to good advantage.

Circleville is currently leading the South Central Ohio League by two games and are in good shape to pick up all the marbles. It's going to be a rough go for the Tigers as they play five out of their last six games on the road.

But, we feel that they have the type team that can answer a challenge and we are looking for another SCOL trophy in the CHS showcase when it's all over.

The Braves of Logan Elm are sharing the Mid State League with Fairfield Union and the two teams will meet tonight in a head-on collision that could decide the league title. It's a home game for Fairfield Union but we don't think this will scare the Braves.

Teays Valley is resting in a tie for third place in the Metro League and had a good chance of moving into second spot.

This isn't too bad as a lot of people didn't feel the Vikings had the guns to make a showing this year but second or third place in the tough Metro isn't anything to be sneezed at.

Some people felt that the Mustangs of Westfall were in for a bad season but they are sitting in fourth place in the Scioto Valley Conference and are holding an 8-5 overall mark which isn't too bad.

They are coming on strong and have a good chance of taking over third spot in the league and perhaps moving into the second place spot.

We can all be proud of our county schools — Everyone of them has a winning record and the overall total of all our teams on the year is 36 wins and 15 losses — That's not bad in anybody's book.

Our "fearless" forecast—The Tigers will close the "Eye of the Hurricane" . . . Braves' arrows will shoot down the Falcons . . . Vikings will pick the Shamrocks . . . Mustangs will stomp the "Will" out of Wilmington.

Until next time, have a nice day-be a good sport.

McDowell Cage Teams Lose At Zane Trace

The Logan Elm McDowell seventh and eighth grade basketball teams both lost at Zane Trace Thursday in the final regular season games for both.

The seventh grade lost, 30-24, after leading 10-9 at halftime and 16-15 at the end of the third period.

For McDowell, Tim Collins, Tim Woods and Jay Thomas scored six points each, Kerry Hardman tallied four and Willie Thompson two.

For Zane Trace, Pettit scored 12 points and Lewis 11. The seventh graders have a 5-6 record and play no more games.

In the eighth grade tilt, the score was deadlocked 10-10 at the end of the first period, McDowell led 23-22 at halftime, Zane Trace was on top 34-31 after three and went on to win, 44-40.

For Logan Elm Phil Evans scored 13 points, Mel Martin 11, Chris Hildenbrand six, Rookie Colliton and Bill Archer five each. Zane Trace was paced by Hatten's 18 points.

The eighth grade has an 8-4 regular season mark. Tomorrow they meet Bloom Carroll at 3 p.m. in the Mid State Eighth Grade Tournament at Millersport. The tournament opens at 10:30 a.m. Saturday, the second game is scheduled at noon, the third at 1:30 p.m. and the little Braves are in the finale.

Indiana football coach Lee Corso called a daring play in his team's loss to Ohio State. He had his punter throw a pass for a 17-yard gain and a first down.

Mustang Frosh Crush Adena '5'

Westfall's freshman basketball team avenged an earlier five point loss as they trounced Adena 50-26, Thursday on the winners Court.

It was a game where all Westfall freshman saw action.

Mark List of Westfall led all scorers with 15 points, Bruce Starkey added 12, Chris Weaver hit for 10, Dan Schleich hooped seven, George Kern scored four and Tom Adams added two. Larry Mollahan led Adena's scorers with 11 points.

The Mustangs, 8-2, will be back in action 6:45 p.m. Thursday when they host Zane Trace.

The Cincinnati Bengals had the best passing defense in 1975. They allowed an average of 123.5 yards per game.

Little Tigers Divide Cage Tilts With Chillicothe

Circleville's eighth grade basketball team defeated visiting Chillicothe Mt. Logan 40-22, while the Tiger freshman bowed to their Mt. Logan Opponent 39-25, Thursday.

In a game that saw all the Tiger eighth graders play, Circleville hit for 54 per cent from the field, their high for the year.

"Mike Garrison, Brad Allen and Jeff Lanman played excellent floor games for us," commented Circleville coach Ty Ankrom.

Circleville's Anthony Smith led all scorers with 18 points, Mark Morrison hit for eight, Keith Lewis hooped seven, Dennis Martin scored five and Mark Agin added two.

The Chillicothe freshman scoring was led by Jeff Strawser who hit for nine points, Brian Sealock hooped four, Pat Poorman scored three, Kevin Woltz, Richard Elsea, Butch McFarland and Dennis Lester all hooped two and Richard Pfleeger added one.

The Tiger eighth graders, 5-2, will travel with the seventh graders Monday to Washington C. H., while the freshman, 3-6, host Washington C. H. 4:45 p.m. Monday.

Willie's Dillies

By BILL McGAFFNEY

With the regular basketball season moving into the late stages we find that our Pickaway County teams are not doing half bad, with all four teams showing to good advantage.

Circleville is currently leading the South Central Ohio League by two games and are in good shape to pick up all the marbles. It's going to be a rough go for the Tigers as they play five out of their last six games on the road.

But, we feel that they have the type team that can answer a challenge and we are looking for another SCOL trophy in the CHS showcase when it's all over.

The Braves of Logan Elm are sharing the Mid State League with Fairfield Union and the two teams will meet tonight in a head-on collision that could decide the league title. It's a home game for Fairfield Union but we don't think this will scare the Braves.

Teays Valley is resting in a tie for third place in the Metro League and have a good chance of moving into second spot.

This isn't too bad as a lot of people didn't feel the Vikings had the guns to make a showing this year but second or third place in the tough Metro isn't anything to be sneezed at.

Some people felt that the Mustangs of Westfall were in for a bad season but they are sitting in fourth place in the Scioto Valley Conference and are holding an 8-5 overall mark which isn't too bad.

They are coming on strong and have a good chance of taking over third spot in the league and perhaps moving into the second place spot.

We can all be proud of our county schools — Everyone of them has a winning record and the overall total of all our teams on the year is 36 wins and 15 losses — That's not bad in anybody's book.

Our "fearless" forecast—The Tigers will close the "Eye of the Hurricane" . . . Braves' arrows will shoot down the Falcons . . . Vikings will pick the Shamrocks . . . Mustangs will stomp the "Will" out of Wilmington.

Until next time, have a nice day-be a good sport.

McDowell Cage Teams Lose At Zane Trace

The Logan Elm McDowell seventh and eighth grade basketball teams both lost at Zane Trace Thursday in the final regular season games for both.

The seventh grade lost, 30-24, after leading 10-9 at halftime and 16-15 at the end of the third period.

For McDowell, Tim Collins, Tim Woods and Jay Thomas scored six points each, Kerry Hardman tallied four and Willie Thompson two.

For Zane Trace, Pettit scored 12 points and Lewis 11. The seventh graders have a 5-6 record and play no more games.

In the eighth grade tilt, the score was deadlocked 10-10 at the end of the first period, McDowell led 23-22 at halftime, Zane Trace was on top 34-31 after three and went on to win, 44-40.

For Logan Elm Phil Evans scored 13 points, Mel Martin 11, Chris Hildenbrand six, Rookie Colliton and Bill Archer five each. Zane Trace was paced by Hatton's 18 points.

The eighth grade has an 8-4 regular season mark. Tomorrow they meet Bloom Carroll at 3 p.m. in the Mid State Eighth Grade Tournament at Millersport. The tournament opens at 10:30 a.m. Saturday, the second game is scheduled at noon, the third at 1:30 p.m. and the little Braves are in the finale.

Indiana football coach Lee Corso called a daring play in his team's loss to Ohio State. He had his punter throw a pass for a 17-yard gain and a first down.

Little Tigers Divide Cage Tilts With Chillicothe

Circleville's eighth grade basketball team defeated visiting Chillicothe Mt. Logan 40-22, while the Tiger freshman bowed to their Mt. Logan Opponent 39-25, Thursday.

In a game that saw all the Tiger eighth graders play, Circleville hit for 54 per cent from the field, their high for the year.

"Mike Garrison, Brad Allen and Jeff Lanman played excellent floor games for us," commented Circleville coach Ty Ankrom.

Circleville's Anthony Smith led all scorers with 18 points, Mark Morrison hit for eight, Keith Lewis hooped seven, Dennis Martin scored five and Mark Agin added two.

The Circleville freshman scoring was led by Jeff Strawser who hit for nine points, Brian Sealock hooped four, Pat Poorman scored three, Kevin Woltz, Richard Elsea, Butch McFarland and Dennis Lester all hooped two and Richard Pfleeger added one.

The Tiger eighth graders, 5-2, will travel with the seventh graders Monday to Washington C. H., while the freshman, 3-6, host Washington C. H. 4:45 p.m. Monday.

OU, Western Michigan To Clash

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "The pressure is on them. We have nothing to lose. We'll be relaxed," promised Ohio University Coach Dale Bandy, looking ahead to a Saturday game at unbeaten Western Michigan.

The Broncos have peeled off a 15-0 all-games record and own the Mid-American Conference basketball lead with a 7-0 mark. The Bobcats are fourth with a 4-2 record.

"They've got to begin feeling a little pressure. But they do everything well. And they've learned to win," Bandy said of the Broncos.

Western Michigan took over the sole lead with an 82-68 rout of previous co-leader Miami Wednesday night. The Redskins, now second at 6-1, try to regain their winning stride at home against Central Michigan (3-4).

In other MAC games Saturday afternoon, third-place Toledo (5-2) goes to Northern Illinois (0-7) and Eastern Michigan (1-6) to Kent State (3-3). At night, Bowling Green (4-3) plays at Ball State (1-6).

Bandy is not surprised at Western Michigan's rapid start.

"I thought they were playing as well as anybody in the conference at the end of last season. And they have the entire starting lineup back," said the Ohio coach.

With the race reaching the halfway point Saturday, Bandy knows the Bobcats can ill afford another conference setback.

"For us, it's a must if we're going to have a chance to win the championship. If we lose, we probably couldn't afford another loss. Western Michigan and Miami are playing well enough that they're not going to lose many," said Bandy.

Miami, stung on the road by Western Michigan, must keep winning since the Redskins don't get a home rematch with the Broncos until Wednesday, March 3.

Toledo, with its 79-75 decision at Ohio Wednesday, has become a title factor at 5-2. And the Rockets should enhance that record by keeping Northern Illinois winless.

Elsewhere in Ohio Saturday, Ohio State returns home from a two-loss trip to Iowa and Minnesota to take on Northwestern. The Wildcats are 4-4 and the Buckeyes 1-7 in the Big Ten race.

Baseball Owners May Shut Camps

NEW YORK (AP) — Believe it or not, Catfish Hunter may be a free agent again.

Hunter, whose free agency 13 months ago brought him a five-year, $3.75 million contract with the New York Yankees, may be on the open market once again if the owners carry out their no-play threat for spring training.

That's the opinion of Marvin Miller, executive director of the major league baseball players association, who responded on Thursday to the owners' threatened shutdown of spring training camps if the players and owners don't reach agreement on a labor contract by then.

"If the owners delay the opening of spring training, it would constitute a breach of every players' contract similar to what happened in the Catfish Hunter case," Miller said.

Saints Top Indianapolis Racers, 6-5

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — AllStar Mike Walton of Minnesota found himself alone on Indianapolis rookie goalie Jim Park, called up from the minors for emergency service and late for the World Hockey Association game.

Walton rifled home a 30-foot wrist shot at 4:17 of the extra period Thursday night, giving the Fighting Saints a 6-5 victory over the Racers.

In the only other action, the San Diego Mariners blanked the Calgary Cowboys 1-0.

"It's very discouraging," said Racers' Coach Jacques Demers. "We worried all day about our goaltending. Then we came out and played as well as we did and still lost."

The worry stemmed from Michel Dion being hospitalized with flu, Leif Holmquist out of action with three badly bruised fingers and Andy Brown having been out of action since Dec. 19 because of back trouble.

The Racers put in a call to Mohawk Valley for Park, whom they had released in December. But he couldn't get to Indianapolis until 8:30 and wasn't ready to play until late in the second period.

Brown filled in.

"His back was hurting every time he went down for a shot," Demers said. "Two of the four Minnesota goals that went by him were simply because he didn't have the physical mobility to get to them."

Hunter, who helped the Ducks upset the Beavers in their last meeting just a week ago, scored 28 points and enhanced his position as one of the best all-around guards in the country.

"I don't think that I've ever seen him play better," said Harter. "He made the big plays — he turned us around. I think Oregon State will agree now he is a great basketball player."

Ron Lee, who helped the Ducks upset the Beavers in their last meeting just a week ago, scored 28 points and enhanced his position as one of the best all-around guards in the country.

"I don't think that I've ever seen him play better," said Harter. "He made the big plays — he turned us around. I think Oregon State will agree now he is a great basketball player."

Baseball is presently facing a matter of grave importance in Kansas City, where federal judge John W. Oliver is deliberating over an appeal filed by the owners, who are trying to overturn another freedom decision by Seitz.

Seitz ruled Dec. 23 that pitchers Andy Messersmith and Dave McNally had become free agents after playing one year beyond their contractual commitments to their teams. This decision tore at the heart of baseball's reserve clause, the vehicle that has tied a player to one team for as long as that team desired.

The owners claimed in Kansas City that Seitz had no jurisdiction to declare the two pitchers free agents. Testimony was concluded Wednesday and Judge Oliver promised a decision by Monday or Tuesday.

The players association has been calling for a collective bargaining settlement to the reserve rules dispute for several years. The owners have stonewalled it, saying the reserve clause was not a subject for the bargaining table.

Rod Curl Leading In Hawaiian Open

HONOLULU, Hawaii (AP) — Patience paid off for Rod Curl.

"I'd been playing good. If you're playing good, it's just a matter of time until the putting comes around. It came around today," the happy little guy said after his brilliant eight-under-par 64 had set the pace in the first round of the $230,000 Hawaiian Open Golf Tournament.

"It could have been better, but how do you complain about a 64?" Curl asked.

"I touched the cup on five putts that didn't fall. It might have been a 60." He paused and grinned broadly.

"But I more than made up for it on those long ones. You can't figure to make those."

He scored three times from 30-35 feet, didn't make a bogey and didn't miss a green, but keyed his round by the surprising power that is packed in his 5-foot-5 frame. He reached one par-five in two and two-putted for birdie and scored two others when his massive drives let him use a nine iron for approaches on par four holes measuring 411 and 447 yards.

"It was the most perfect day you could have," Curl said. The temperature was in the 80s. The trade winds were bright and warm. The trade winds were but gentle breezes, swirling through the palms and banyan trees.

The weather set up some of the lowest scoring of the year on the pro tour. There were 16 scores of 67 or better. There were 71 scores — almost half the field — at 70, two under par on the 7,219-yard Waialae Country Club course.

Big John Jacobs, like Curl one of the game's long hitters, was alone in second at 65. The group at 66 included Hale Irwin, Bob Murphy, Al Geiberger, Ed Sneed and rookie Barry Jaekel, son of movie actor Richard Jaekel.

There were nine at 67, including U.S. Open champion Lou Graham. Arnold Palmer, who blew a chance to win this tournament a year ago, had a 68 and Lee Trevino was five strokes off the pace at 69. Defending champion Gary Groh shot 73 and must improve if he is to qualify for the final two rounds Saturday and Sunday.

Jack Nicklaus and Johnny Miller are not competing.

Finns Beat Americans At Hockey

INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP) — All the talk seems empty now about another Winter Olympics' medal for the U.S. hockey team.

Publicists and others have been portraying the Americans as having a good chance to win the bronze medal at the Innsbruck Games, finishing behind the Russians and Czechs.

There was even talk of the miracle of 1960, when the Americans stunned the Russians at Squaw Valley, Calif., to win the gold, or 1972, when the U.S. team upset the Czechs to win the silver medal.

But this time somebody seems to have forgotten the Finns.

On Thursday in Helsinki, the Finnish national team sent the American Olympic squad to an embarrassing 9-2 defeat. That came one day after the same two teams had met, with the Finns winning 9-3.

This is the same Finnish team which now heads here, and thus the American medal hopes in this sport must be considerably in question.

The routs in Finland were worse than the scores indicate. In Wednesday's game, the Finns led 7-1 after two periods. On Thursday, it was 7-0 after two periods.

Tempers flared in the final period and there was a wild, fist-swinging free-for-all.

Oregon Tops Oregon State, 76-74

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Whenever the Oregon State Beavers and Oregon Ducks get together, fur flies, tempers flare and emotions flame.

It was another of those intense, all-or-nothing games Thursday night, even if it was played for "fun."

In a game that meant nothing to the Pacific-8 Conference standings, but everything to hometown pride, Oregon pulled out a 76-74 overtime thriller over 16th-ranked Oregon State.

"We just weren't ready to play at the start," said Oregon Coach Dick Harter, whose team trailed 9-0 and 11-1 in the early going. "But the kids kept their composure in a very difficult situation."

Both Harter and Coach Ralph Miller were not especially enchanted with having a non-conference game between the backyard rivals. They were openly critical, pointing out that it was hard enough competing in the rough Pac-8 race without adding a fourth game to their intense rivalry.

In other games involving ranked teams, No. 3 Nevada-Las Vegas beat Seattle 107-77 and Wichita State upset 20th-ranked West Texas State 63-55.

Oregon's Stu Jackson sank a pair of free throws with 59 seconds left in overtime to provide the Ducks with their upset victory. Oregon State, now 12-6 overall, had forced the overtime session by rallying to erase a six-point deficit in the final minute of regulation play.

Unbeaten Nevada Las Vegas buried Seattle with 29 points from forward Eddie Owens. The Rebels, winning their 22nd game of the season — 15 of them at home — jumped into a half-time lead of 53-30 and coasted the rest of the way.

Bob Elmore led four players in double figures with 16 points to pace Wichita State past West Texas State.

Ron Lee, who helped the Ducks upset the Beavers in their last meeting just a week ago, scored 28 points and enhanced his position as one of the best all-around guards in the country.

"I don't think that I've ever seen him play better," said Harter. "He made the big plays — he turned us around. I think Oregon State will agree now he is a great basketball player."

OU, Western Michigan To Clash

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "The pressure is on them. We have nothing to lose. We'll be relaxed," promised Ohio University Coach Dale Bandy, looking ahead to a Saturday game at unbeaten Western Michigan.

The Broncos have peeled off a 15-0 all-games record and own the Mid-American Conference basketball lead with a 7-0 mark. The Bobcats are fourth with a 4-2 record.

NEW YORK (AP) — Believe it or not, Catfish Hunter may be a free agent again.

Hunter, whose free agency 13 months ago brought him a fiveyear, $3.75 million contract with the New York Yankees, may be on the open market once again if the owners carry out their no-play threat for spring training.

That's the opinion of Marvin Miller, executive director of the major league baseball players association, who responded on Thursday to the owners' threatened shutdown of spring training camps if the players and owners don't reach agreement on a labor contract by then.

"If the owners delay the opening of spring training, it would constitute a breach of every players' contract similar to what happened in the Catfish Hunter case," Miller said.

Hunter, who led the Oakland A's to three world championships, left them in 1974 because Charles O. Finley breached his star pitcher's contract. Arbitrator Peter Seitz ruled in December of 1974 that because Hunter was not paid in the manner stipulated by his contract, he was a free agent.

Instead of one free agent roaming the hills of North Carolina, there soon could be hundreds all over the country if the players don't get paid for the spring training period.

"If the owners close down the camps, the players would demand to be paid," Miller said. "If they were not paid, then their contracts would be breached. It's that simple."

Besides the owners' threats, Commissioner Bowie Kuhn has said that

"They've got to begin feeling a little pressure. But they do everything well. And they've learned to win," Bandy said of the Broncos.

Western Michigan took over the sole lead with an 82-68 rout of previous coleader Miami Wednesday night. The Redskins, now second at 6-1, try to regain their winning stride at home against Central Michigan (3-4).

Ohio Northern (5-1) in the Northern Division and Otterbein (6-0) in the Southern Division are the Ohio Conference pacesetters. Ohio Northern awaits Wooster (3-3). Otterbein has a trip to Marietta (2-4).

Malone (6-2) and Cedarville (4-1), the Mid-Ohio Conference frontrunners, should win at home. Malone plays Urbana (2-2) and Cedarville faces Ohio Dominican (2-6).

Wilmington (1-9), last in the Hoosier-Buckeye Conference, has the unenviable chore of playing league-leading Earlham (8-1) at Wilmington.

Earlham has a two-game lead over Findlay (6-3), which visits Hanover (3-7).

Hiram (6-0), one game in front of Allegheny in the Presidents' Conference, has a date at Washington & Jefferson (3-3).

Viking Freshman Upend Dublin

Teays Valley's freshman basketball team defeated Dublin 52-38, on the losers court.

It was a strong second half that iced the victory for the Vikings, they scored 28 points while limiting Dublin to just 11.

Allen Ett of Teays Valley led all scorers with 25 points, Yancy Toney added 11, Rex Pierce and Jeff Welsh hooped four each and Doug Hesler, Mark Prater, Doug Flowers and Tom Pontius each hit for two. Paul Herbert led Dublin's scoring with 19 points and Bob Baldwin added 14.

Teays Valley, 5-3, will be back in action 4:30, Monday when they travel to Franklin Heights.

Oregon Tops Oregon State, 76-74

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Whenever the Oregon State Beavers and Oregon Ducks get together, fur flies, tempers flare and emotions flame.

It was another of those intense, all-or-nothing games Thursday night, even if it was played for "fun."

In a game that meant nothing to the Pacific-8 Conference standings, but everything to hometown pride, Oregon pulled out a 76-74 overtime thriller over 16th-ranked Oregon State.

"We just weren't ready to play at the start," said Oregon Coach Dick Harter, whose team trailed 9-0 and 11-1 in the early going. "But the kids kept their composure in a very difficult situation."

Ron Lee, who helped the Ducks upset the Beavers in their last meeting just a week ago, scored 28 points and enhanced his position as one of the best all-around guards in the country.

"I don't think that I've ever seen him play better," said Harter. "He made the big plays — he turned us around. I think Oregon State will agree now he is a great basketball player."

Both Harter and Coach Ralph Miller were not especially enchanted with having a non-conference game between the backyard rivals. They were openly critical, pointing out that it was hard enough competing in the rough Pac-8 race without adding a fourth game to their intense rivalry.

In other games involving ranked teams, No. 3 Nevada-Las Vegas beat Seattle 107-77 and Wichita State upset 20th-ranked West Texas State 63-55.

Oregon's Stu Jackson sank a pair of free throws with 59 seconds left in overtime to provide the Ducks with their upset victory. Oregon State, now 12-6 overall, had forced the overtime session by rallying to erase a six-point deficit in the final minute of regulation play.

Unbeaten Nevada Las Vegas buried Seattle with 29 points from forward Eddie Owens. The Rebels, winning their 22nd game of the season — 15 of them at home — jumped into a half-time lead of 53-30 and coasted the rest of the way.

Bob Elmore led four players in double figures with 16 points to pace Wichita State past West Texas State.

Rod Curl Leading In Hawaiian Open

HONOLULU, Hawaii (AP) — Patience paid off for Rod Curl.

"I'd been playing good. If you're playing good, it's just a matter of time until the putting comes around. It came around today," the happy little guy said after his brilliant eight-under-par 64 had set the pace in the first round of the $230,000 Hawaiian Open Golf Tournament.

"It could have been better, but how do you complain about a 64?" Curl asked.

"I touched the cup on five putts that didn't fall. It might have been a 60," He paused and grinned broadly.

"But I more than made up for it on those long ones. You can't figure to make those."

Finns Beat Americans At Hockey

INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP) — All the talk seems empty now about another Winter Olympics' medal for the U.S. hockey team.

Publicists and others have been portraying the Americans as having a good chance to win the bronze medal at the Innsbruck Games, finishing behind the Russians and Czechs.

There was even talk of the miracle of 1960, when the Americans stunned the Russians at Squaw Valley, Calif., to win the gold, or 1972, when the U.S. team upset the Czechs to win the silver medal.

But this time somebody seems to have forgotten the Finns.

On Thursday in Helsinki, the Finnish national team sent the American Olympic squad to an embarrassing 9-2 defeat. That came one day after the same two teams had met, with the Finns winning 9-3.

This is the same Finnish team which now heads here, and thus the American medal hopes in this sport must be considerably in question.

The routs in Finland were worse than the scores indicate. In Wednesday's game, the Finns led 7-1 after two periods. On Thursday, it was 7-0 after two periods.

Tempers flared in the final period and there was a wild, fist-swinging free-for-all.

He scored three times from 30-35 feet, didn't make a bogey and didn't miss a green, but keyed his round by the surprising power that is packed in his 5-foot-5 frame. He reached one par-five in two and two-putted for birdie and scored two others when his massive drives let him use a nine iron for approaches on par four holes measuring 411 and 447 yards.

"It was the most perfect day you could have," Curl said. The temperature was in the 80s. The tropic sun was bright and warm. The trade winds were but gentle breezes, swirling through the palms and banyan trees.

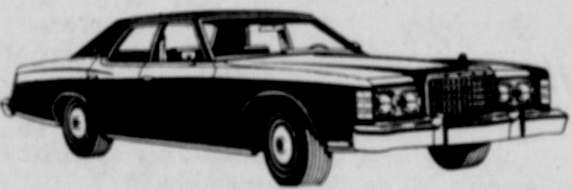

The weather set up some of the lowest scoring of the year on the pro tour. There were 16 scores of 67 or better. There were 71 scores — almost half the field — at 70, two under par on the 7,219-yard Waialae Country Club course.

Big John Jacobs, like Curl one of the game's long hitters, was alone in second at 65. The group at 66 included Hale Irwin, Bob Murphy, Al Geiberger, Ed Sneed and rookie Barry Jaeckel, son of movie actor Richard Jaeckel.

There were nine at 67, including U.S. Open champion Lou Graham. Arnold Palmer, who blew a chance to win this tournament a year ago, had a 68 and Lee Trevino was five strokes off the pace at 69. Defending champion Gary Groh shot 73 and must improve if he is to qualify for the final two rounds Saturday and Sunday.

Jack Nicklaus and Johnny Miller are not competing.

Cotton Fiber Sales Increase

NEW YORK (AP) — Cotton fiber paper sales are expected to be up significantly in 1976, approaching 1974 levels of approximately 117,000 tons, reports Benjamin J. Sullivan, president, Cotton Fiber Paper Council Inc.

"We anticipate increased buying," says the trade association president, "particularly in business and personal letter-head paper, which composed 70 per cent of our total volume."

"Of the remaining 30 per cent — spread among technical, ledger, index and onionskin grades — technical grade papers used principally for original drawing or tracing, photographic and reproductive purposes should recover normal sales patterns."

Oliver Cromwell died in 1658.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SATURDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): False impressions, unpleasant altercations may crop up in your vicinity. Be ready, eager to quell them. There's always a way to get around undesirable situations. Find it!

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): A day in which the unexpected may happen. Stay loose so that you won't be caught unaware by sudden changes in plans or circumstances. But don't try to solve problems in haste.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Neither listen to pessimists nor brood over the past — temptations now. Your advantages lie in inner strength, composure in trying situations.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Make necessary comparisons when others voice opinions, but stop there: DO not inject a personal note or make arbitrary inferences. Just watch for discrepancies.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Be cautious now — ready for an unexpected barrier, a sharp curve one way or another. Thus you can prevent errors, keep to your path in spite of little stellar backing.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Excessive spending could be disastrous now. Don't speculate or indulge in extravagant whims, and watch the budget even when making minor purchases.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): You may run into some complicated situations. Analyze carefully; discriminate between fact and rumor. Don't reject a proffered idea before you have fully understood it, however.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23): Give of your know-how and experience and express your opinions if asked but, in the doing, avoid being critical or patronizing. Emphasize the positive!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Give a new twist to routine to break its monotony. If an endeavor does not turn out to your satisfaction, don't be pessimistic. Try another method.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Teamwork will be your key to accomplishment during the next 48 hours. Even if you have to call someone at a distance to help further your aims, don't hesitate.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): A fine day in which to capitalize on your unusual gift for combining the creative with the practical. You can produce some excellent results now.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Venture forth where your beliefs are sound and you are sure you have the know-how. In the latter connection, you may need a bit more experience.

YOU BORN TODAY are an extremely outgoing individual, progressive in your ideas and methods and truly brilliant in your ingenuity. Your enthusiasm for life is boundless and in your swing along to high goals, you often carry many others along with you. Your methods may seem erratic to others at times, but you always know what you are doing and where you are going — and you get there. In business you can be extremely aggressive, but you are usually artistic (and quieter) in your outside interests. Best outlets for your talents: music, journalism, short-story writing, the stage, politics. Birthdate of:

Views On Television

LOS ANGELES (AP) —

ABC commendably widens the perimeters of American TV programming Sunday when it unveils the first episode of its mammoth, 12-hour dramatization of the novel "Rich Man, Poor Man."

And even if the opening twohour installment and the one that follows on Monday had nothing else going for them, they would merit watching for the powerful performance turned in by Edward Asner, better known as gruff Lou Grant of "The Mary Tyler Moore Show."

As it happens, though, there is quite a bit more going for "Rich Man, Poor Man." Before getting into that, let's digress a moment to take note that Danny Thomas is returning to television tonight as the star of "The Practice," a new half-hour comedy on NBC.

If your sense of humor tends toward the sarcastic, this show is for you. Thomas, his hair gray and disheveled, plays a crusty old doctor who delights in wisecracks, either putting people on or down.

But back to "Rich Man, Poor Man." Following Sunday's showing, ABC will air the next installment, also two hours, on Monday. One-hour episodes will follow on each of the next six Mondays. The drama will conclude with another two-hour chapter on Monday, March 22.

Following the lines of Irwin Shaw's novel, "Rich Man, Poor Man" deals primarily with the contrasting lives of two brothers and a girlfriend over a 20-year period but also depicts some of the ways America grew and changed during that time from the end of World War II to the mid-1960s.

The pace of the first two chapters Sunday and Monday is slow, but the characters are rich in detail — which is to say that the film, at 12 hours, is not unlike a novel. The plot may not be compelling in itself, but the people make it interesting.

Relative newcomers Peter Strauss, Nick Nolte and Susan Blakely are excellent in their respective roles as Rudy Jordache, a straight arrow young man driven by ambition to be wealthy; Ton Jordache, the tough, rebellious younger brother who's always taken a back seat to Rudy at home because his parents never meant to have him in the first place; and Julie Prescott, Rudy's high school sweetheart, who longs for the excitement in life that their small home town in New York can't offer.

But they are overshadowed in the first two episodes by Asner, who plays the boys' father, Axel Jordache, an intense, gimpy-legged German immigrant who slaves in his bakery to support his family, fiercely bitter about what life has dealt him. He is terrific.

A Good Cigar Is A Smoke

MODESTO, Calif. (AP) — Joseph Jefferson Floyd, who celebrates his 100th birthday next Sept. 14, is a regular cigar smoker. When asked whether he has smoked cigars all his life, he answered: "No," with a hint of annoyance, "I'm not through yet."

Argentina consumes 95 per cent of its own wine, even though it's the fifth largest producer in the world.

Your Views On Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SATURDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): False impressions, unpleasant altercations may crop up in your vicinity. Be ready, eager to quell them. There's always a way to get around undesirable situations. Find it!

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): A day in which the unexpected may happen. Stay loose so that you won't be caught unaware by sudden changes in plans or circumstances. But don't try to solve problems in haste.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Neither listen to pessimists nor brood over the past — temptations now. Your advantages lie in inner strength, composure in trying situations.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Make necessary comparisons when others voice opinions, but stop there: DO not inject a personal note or make arbitrary inferences. Just watch for discrepancies.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Be cautious now — ready for an unexpected barrier, a sharp curve one way or another. Thus you can prevent errors, keep to your path in spite of little stellar backing.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Excessive spending could be disastrous now. Don't speculate or indulge in extravagant whims, and watch the budget even when making minor purchases.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): You may run into some complicated situations. Analyze carefully; discriminate between fact and rumor. Don't reject a proffered idea before you have fully understood it, however.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23): Give of your know-how and experience and express your opinions if asked but, in the doing, avoid being critical or patronizing. Emphasize the positive!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Give a new twist to routine to break its monotony. If an endeavor does not turn out to your satisfaction, don't be pessimistic. Try another method.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Teamwork will be your key to accomplishment during the next 48 hours. Even if you have to call someone at a distance to help further your aims, don't hesitate.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): A fine day in which to capitalize on your unusual gift for combining the creative with the practical. You can produce some excellent results now.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Venture forth where your beliefs are sound and you are sure you have the know-how. In the latter connection, you may need a bit more experience.

YOU BORN TODAY are an extremely outgoing individual, progressive in your ideas and methods and truly brilliant in your ingenuity. Your enthusiasm for life is boundless and in your swing along to high goals, you often carry many others along with you. Your methods may seem erratic to others at times, but you always know what you are doing and where you are going — and you get there. In business you can be extremely aggressive, but you are usually artistic (and quieter) in your outside interests. Best outlets for your talents: music, journalism, short-story writing, the stage, politics. Birthdate of: Tallulah Bankhead, Carol Channing and Eddie Cantor, American stage stars.

Views On Television

LOS ANGELES (AP) — ABC commendably widens the perimeters of American TV programming Sunday when it unveils the first episode of its mammoth, 12-hour dramatization of the novel "Rich Man, Poor Man."

And even if the opening twohour installment and the one that follows on Monday had nothing else going for them, they would merit watching for the powerful performance turned in by Edward Asner, better known as gruff Lou Grant of "The Mary Tyler Moore Show."

As it happens, though, there is quite a bit more going for "Rich Man, Poor Man."

Before getting into that, let's digress a moment to take note that Danny Thomas is returning to television tonight as the star of "The Practice," a new half-hour comedy on NBC.

If your sense of humor tends toward the sarcastic, this show is for you. Thomas, his hair gray and disheveled, plays a crusty old doctor who delights in wisecracks, either putting people on or down.

But back to "Rich Man, Poor Man." Following Sunday's showing, ABC will air the next installment, also two hours, on Monday. One-hour episodes will follow on each of the next six Mondays. The drama will conclude with another two-hour chapter on Monday, March 22.

Following the lines of Irwin Shaw's novel, "Rich Man, Poor Man" deals primarily with the contrasting lives of two brothers and a girlfriend over a 20-year period but also depicts some of the ways America grew and changed during that time from the end of World War II to the mid-1960s.

The pace of the first two chapters Sunday and Monday are rich in detail — which is to say that the film, at 12 hours, is not unlike a novel. The plot may not be compelling in itself, but the people make it interesting.

Relative newcomers Peter Strauss, Nick Nolte and Susan Blakely are excellent in their respective roles as Rudy Jordache, a straight arrow young man driven by ambition to be wealthy; Ton Jordache, the tough, rebellious younger brother who's always taken a back seat to Rudy at home because his parents never meant to have him in the first place; and Julie Prescott, Rudy's high school sweetheart, who longs for the excitement in life that their small home town in New York can't offer.

But they are overshadowed in the first two episodes by Asner, who plays the boys' father, Axel Jordache, an intense, gimpy-legged German immigrant who slaves in his bakery to support his family, fiercely bitter about what life has dealt him. He is terrific.

A Good Cigar Is A Smoke

MODESTO, Calif. (AP) — Joseph Jefferson Floyd, who celebrates his 100th birthday next Sept. 14, is a regular cigar smoker. When asked whether he has smoked cigars all his life, he answered: "No," with a hint of annoyance, "I'm not through yet."

Argentina consumes 95 per cent of its own wine, even though it's the fifth largest producer in the world.

France Revives Flagging Lottery

PARIS (AP) — While many U.S. state lotteries are running into trouble, France's weekly flutter is going from strength to strength and a new gambling game is to be introduced this year.

"We felt there was a hole in our gambling structure that needed to be filled," said Claude Blondin, assistant lotteries director, "so we decided upon the Loto."

The game is simple, but the bettor can complicate it if he wishes. Basically the aim is to pick six numbers, between one and 49, to match a random selection of numbered balls drawn from a whirling tumbler by lottery officials.

Bogus Bills Circulated

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Two men were arrested here Wednesday night and police claim the arrests have broken up a three-state counterfeit money ring.

Authorities said the pair, identified as Kenneth St. Germain, 37, and Chester Warzel, 30, both of South Bend, were arrested on federal counterfeiting and conspiracy charges after a two-month investigation. Both are to be arraigned today.

The pair allegedly circulated more than $30,000 in bogus $10 bills in northwest Indiana, southwest lower Michigan and northeast Ohio, police said.

Several specimens of the fake money were confiscated as well as photographic negatives used in its production, police said.

On Sept. 8, 1885, a tornado destroyed part of Washington Court House, Ohio, killing six people and causing about a half million dollars in damage.

PARIS (AP) — While many U.S. state lotteries are running into trouble, France's weekly flutter is going from strength to strength and a new gambling game is to be introduced this year.

"We felt there was a hole in our gambling structure that needed to be filled," said Claude Blondin, assistant lotteries director, "so we decided upon the Loto."

The game is simple, but the better can complicate it if he wishes. Basically the aim is to pick six numbers, between one and 49, to match a random selection of numbered balls drawn from a whirling tumbler by lottery officials.

Bogus Bills Circulated

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Two men were arrested here Wednesday night and police claim the arrests have broken up a three-state counterfeit money ring.

Authorities said the pair, identified as Kenneth St. Germain, 37, and Chester Warzel, 30, both of South Bend, were arrested on federal counterfeiting and conspiracy charges after a two-month investigation. Both are to be arraigned today.

The pair allegedly circulated more than $30,000 in bogus $10 bills in northwest Indiana, southwest lower Michigan and northeast Ohio, police said.

Several specimens of the fake money were confiscated as well as photographic negatives used in its production, police said.

On Sept. 8, 1885, a tornado destroyed part of Washington Court House, Ohio, killing six people and causing about a half million dollars in damage.
